... Senate Meets In Secrecy

Washington (UPI)-After a rare secret session Monday, the Senate refused to stop the Pentagon from developing a "silo killer" missile warhead.

The vote against the proposal was 48 to 37. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., voted with the majority. Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., was among 15 senators listed as absent or not voting.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.M., forced the secret session so he could quote classified documents in an effort to prove American missiles were already so accurate that any improvement could lead the Russians to believe the United States was seeking a "first-strike" capabili-

Guards locked and blocked the doors to the Senate chamber after McIntyre, chairman of the armed services research subcommittee, strode in carrying a fat file from which protruded Defense Department documents stamped "secret" in large red

Before the session, which ran two hours and 47 minutes, Mc-Intyre said in an interview that he would give detailed statistics showing "we can knock out all their soft military targets now, and almost all their mis-siles too."

McIntyre and Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., sponsored the amendment to the administration's $21.8 billion weapons procurement bill.

The bill contains $77 million in funds to improve the accuracy and explosive power of missile warheads.

'Genie Is Loose' McIntyre said of the decision "the genie is out of the bottle."

Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger has repeatedly said neither superpower could achieve a disarming first strike capability so long as both had missile-carrying submarines invulnerable to land-based mis-

By LYNN ZERSCHLING Star Staff Writer

City lawmakers went shopping for a regional shopping center site Monday and went home empty

In one swoop the council rejected all three shopping center applications for 56th and Hwy. 2, 27th and Old Cheney Rd. and 84th and O. The vote was 5-2.

Council members Sue Bailey, Helen Boosalis, Steve Cook, Max Denney and John Robinson voted to deny all three applications. Councilmen Dick Baker and Bob Sikyta called for the designation of a shopping center site.

Work On Update

The five winning members of the council indicated they wanted to work with the planning commission, the city administration and the consultants updating the Comprehensive Plan to designate a shopping center site somewhere in south Lincoln.

Cook and Boosalis said the city should take the lead in locating such a site, possible in an area between Old Cheney Rd. and the proposed south

That way, Cock reasoned, the city could have a site before people built their homes next door to a future shopping center.

Bailey, Denney and Robinson said they were not convinced Lincoln would ever need another major shopping center and maintained downtown revitalization efforts would be threatened if a mammoth competitor opened its doors in just a few years.

'Hard To Be Convincing' "It's hard to be really convincing that we're concerned about the downtown if we go ahead with a regional center," Bailey remarked. Baker charged that the council "has done everything possible to help the downtown" by creating the Downtown Advisory Committee and by committing the city to building a 1,000-car garage in the Centrum. Sikyta and Baker quoted Planning Director Doug Brogden who said last week that denial of all three applications would result in a proliferation of strip centers and free standing discount stores. To avoid that development, Simyta urged his colleagues to "zone now - permit later."

Could Be Prevented Boosalis responded that the council through its zoning practices could prevent the proliferation of such strip developments.

Baker told the council they would be ignoring the economic report by Hammer-Siler-George, a Denver consulting firm, if they denied all three The consultants said Lincoln could handle another shopping center by 1990 at a south Lincoln location, provided the development were staged.

Bailey cautioned lawmakers not to misinterept

the study. "It doesn't say we need a regional center." she stated, "it says there is a market there for it. There's quite a difference between the two."

'Like No Planning' Sikyta charged that the rejection of all three proposals would be tantamount to no planning at all by the city and a rejection of both Brogden's and the planning commission's recommendations. Brogden had recommended the 27th site, while the commission had recommended the 56th location.

Bailey said the issue was greater than site selection, since she does not view the proliferation of shopping center development as inevitable. Such centers are automobile oriented, she said, and as such they may become antiquated with increased energy shortages faced by the country.

Robinson said he would like to see merchandising strengthened downtown to the extent that a new major retailer would locate there. Action Brings Frowns

The council's decision brought frowns to the faces of the three developers proposing the com-which proposed the 84th and O center, said the one group which will suffer most from the decision will be Lincoln consumers. And Dave Pierson, attorney for Hub Hall who proposed the 56th and Hwy. 2 center, declined immediate comment.

The developers said their firms still are interested in building a center in Lincoln.

Arabs Get 60% Of Oil Company

NEW YORK (AP) - Saudi Arabia has taken over 60 per cent of the Arabian American Oil Co., the world's largest oil producer, Aramco said Monday.

An Aramco spokesman said the agreement is retroactive to last Jan. 1. He said the company is presently operating under an interim plan and that a more detailed agreement would be formulated in later meetings between the Saudi Arabia government and the four American oil companies, which currently own 75 per cent of the company.

No price for the takeover deal has been agreed to, the spokesman said.

He said that the four American owners, Exxon, Mobil, Standard of California and Texaco, would have a contractual arrangement to buy most of the oil produced from the government's share of the company's operations.

The spokesman said the four American owners would meet with Sandi Arabian representatives in July to work out the details of the new ownership arrangement.

Current Arameo oil production is estimated at 8.5 million barrels a day, nearly as much as the total domestic production of the United States. There are two other firms operating in Saudi Arabia but they produce together only about 260,000 barrels a day.

A change in Aramco's ownership status had been expected for some time, but Monday's announcement was the first official word of what the arrangement will be. Some industry experts had suggested that the Saudis would take complete control of the company.

In an interview last week Rawleigh Warner Jr., chairman of Mobil, said that fundamental changes in the relationship between the American owners and Saudi Arabia were coming SOOD.

He said that in the future major international oil companies will have less control over production of foreign oil and increasingly become buyers and marketers.

He said that he hoped the eventual agreement with Saudi Arabia would be similar to one reached recently in Kuwait. Kuwait also obtained 60 per cent ownership of oil company operations.

"I recognize that in the future we are not going to make as much profit per barrel of oil as we've made in the past," Warner said.

The vote was 5-2. Council members Sue Bailey, Helen Boosalis, Steve Cook, Max Denney and John Robinson voted to deny all three applications. Councilmen Dick Baker and Bob Sikyta called for the designation of a shopping center site.

Work On Update

The five winning members of the council indicated they wanted to work with the planning commission, the city administration and the consultants updating the Comprehensive Plan to designate a shopping center site somewhere in south Lincoln.

Cook and Boosalis said the city should take the lead in locating such a site, possible in an area between Old Cheney Rd. and the proposed south

That way, Cook reasoned, the city could have a site before people built their homes next door to a future shopping center.

Bailey, Denney and Robinson said they were not convinced Lincoln would ever need another major shopping center and maintained downtown revitalization efforts would be threatened if a mammoth competitor opened its doors in just a few years.

'Hard To Be Convincing' "It's hard to be really convincing that we're concerned about the downtown if we go ahead with a regional center," Bailey remarked.

Baker charged that the council "has done everything possible to help the downtown" by creating the Downtown Advisory Committee and by committing the city to building a 1,000-car garage in the Centrum.

Sikyta and Baker quoted Planning Director Doug Brogden who said last week that denial of all three applications would result in a proliferation of strip centers and free standing discount stores.

To avoid that development, Simyta urged his colleagues to "zone now - permit later." Could Be Prevented Boosalis responded that the council through its zoning practices could prevent the proliferation of such strip developments. Baker told the council they would be ignoring the economic report by Hammer-Siler-George, a the study.

Bailey cautioned lawmakers not to misinterept

"It doesn't say we need a regional center," she stated, "it says there is a market there for it. There's quite a difference between the two." 'Like No Planning' Sikyta charged that the rejection of all three proposals would be tantamount to no planning at all by the city and a rejection of both Brogden's and the planning commission's recommendations. Brogden had recommended the 27th site, while the commission had recommended the 56th location. Bailey said the issue was greater than site selection, since she does not view the proliferation of shopping center development as inevitable. Such centers are automobile oriented, she said, and as such they may become antiquated with increased energy shortages faced by the country. Robinson said he would like to see merchandising strengthened downtown to the extent that a new major retailer would locate there. Action Brings Frowns

Arabs Get 60% Of Oil Company

NEW YORK (AP) - Saudi Arabia has taken over 60 per cent of the Arabian American Oil Co., the world's largest oil producer, Aramco said Monday.

An Aramco spokesman said the agreement is retroactive to last Jan. 1. He said the company is presently operating under an interim plan and that a more detailed agreement would be formulated in later meetings between the Saudi Arabia government and the four American oil companies, which currently own 75 per cent of the company.

No price for the takeover deal has been agreed to, the spokesman said.

He said that the four American owners, Exxon, Mobil, Standard of California and Texaco, would have a contractual arrangement to buy most of the oil produced from the government's share of the company's operations.

The spokesman said the four American owners would meet with Saudi Arabian representatives in July to work out the details of the new ownership arrangement.

Current Aramco oil production is estimated at 8.5 million barrels a day, nearly as much as the total domestic production of the United States. There are two other firms operating in Saudi Arabia but they produce together only about 260,000 barrels a day.

A change in Aramco's ownership status had been expected for some time, but Monday's announcement was the first official word of what the arrangement will be. Some industry experts had suggested that the Saudis would take complete control of the company.

In an interview last week, Rawleigh Warner Jr., chairman of Mobil, said that fundamental changes in the relationship between the American owners and Saudi Arabia were coming

He said that in the future major international oil companies will have less control over production of foreign oil and increasingly become buyers and marketers.

He said that he hoped the eventual agreement with Saudi Arabia would be similar to one reached recently in Kuwait. Kuwait also obtained 60 per cent ownership of oil company operations.

"I recognize that in the future we are not going to make as much profit per barrel of oil as we've made in the past," Warner said.

Gold Snuff Box Brings $206,400

LONDON (AP) — A gold snuff box owned by Queen Frederika, the former queen mother of Greece, was sold at Sotheby's Monday night for $206,400. The auction house said it was a record price.

The 18th century snuff box was made in Berlin for King Frederick the Great of Prussia, an ancestor of Frederika. It was bought by a Swiss dealer.

Nixon Completes First Leg Of Mideast Trip

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) -President Nixon arrived Monday night in Salzburg, completing the first leg of a journey that will carry him through the Middle East to seek what he called a and equitable peace."

"Every nation in the world has a stake in maintaining peace in the Middle East," Nixon said after stepping from his jetliner into an Austrian rainstorm.

"We trust this journey will contribute to peace not just in that area but to peace generally in all the world.

Nixon put on a tan raincoat before stepping from the presidential jetliner. In his arrival comments, the President referred to his visit here in 1972 en route to Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders.

Kreisky did, too, saying the journey to Moscow had led to reduced tension in the world.

In contrast to his 1972 arrival, when Vietnam war protesters thronged through Salzburg's airport, Nixon was greeted Monday night by an applauding crowd of several hundred persons.

Alexander M. Haig, the White House chief of staff, said Nixon and the Soviet Union were spent his time during the flight from Washington preparing for what Haig called "rapid-fire discussions" in the days ahead.

Although Salzburg has been described as a rest stop to ward off jet lag, Haig said there would swing through five Middle East be "no relaxation at all" for nations which he said in Nixon. "It will be a period of

MIT ENGINEER . . . Dr. Jonathan Allen and talking computer.

It Is Flat, Unemotional, But MIT Computer Talks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - "Hello. This is a computer at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology speaking. I have been programmed to

Though the voice is strangely flat and unemotional, the MIT computer system is considered remarkable by its engineer developers because it can pronounce about any word in the English language or any string of words. Jonathan Allen, associate professor of electrical engineering and project leader, says the MIT Research Laboratory of Electronics system pronounces words much like humans do.

The MIT computer applies programmed rules of linguistics and pronunciation to words it scans, even those it has never seen. The words are converted to computer language and the computer tells a vocal tract machine how to build the speech waves.

The waves are fed to a loudspeaker and the computer "speaks." A main goal of the MIT work is development of an efficient reading machine for the blind. Allen says another major use would be a general computer output device. A library user of the future, for example, could have information read to him over the telephone

Allen says the major difference between the MIT text-to-speech system and other systems is that other methods require programming each word the computer uses into its memory.

Allen says almost all words are made up of basic units, called morphs, that remain about the same. Using the 11,000 morphs, which include prefixes, suffixes and the Latin roots of words, the computer can understand at least 10 times that number of words.

Along with the morph lexicon bank in the computer, about 11,000 exceptional words have been added that do not follow normal rules. Researchers taught the machine more than 400 letter-to-sound rules so that it could sound out words phonetically.

Although the computer has a voice that is flat, the engineers are working on teaching it how to pause and inflect as in human speech.

Allen says the present computer speech is about 10 times slower than normal reading speed and must be recorded for delayed replay. But once a newer, faster computer is installed this fall, the vocal speech will go up to 180 words a minute - near-normal reading speed.

Prosperity Peace Dividend

Senator Henry Jackson is critical of President Nixon's trip this week to the Middle East, characterizing it as dangerous and with little potential for real accomplishment. We tend to believe

It seems to us that this is quite a proper time for the President to visit Arab and Jewish lands. The peace that has been arranged between Syria and Israel in the Golan Heights is a tenuous one. Jackson sees this as a potential danger while we see it as an opportunity.

If Nixon can do anything to improve the foundation of that peace, it is well that he do so. Whatever else he might or might not have done, the President has been on the right track in foreign affairs.

He has literally harped on a peace theme and it has paid dividends. Peace, of course, is its own reward but it offers opportunity far beyond that.

The story of poverty throughout much of the world is an often told one. The news this week has detailed a summer crop outlook in Canada, Russia, China and the U.S. that is not encouraging.

While production may be as good as last year, wheat supplies are low and higher yields are needed if the hungry people of the world are to be fed. The real value of peace is that it offers a chance of doing something about this. There is nothing that so drains the resources of a country as war. The need for military affairs is one that has sapped the economy of nations far and wide, leaving far too little for the humanitarian programs that are so badly needed.

Large sums are needed to improve production and distribution techniques. More money is needed to support the allocation of food on an economic basis that will make it available where need exists, without regard for the ability to purchase it.

Every dollar that goes into guns and other armaments is taking food out of the mouths of the millions who haven't enough of it. The world desperately needs the human prosperity that could be a product of universal peace.

The President may be running some risk in making his Middle East jaunt but it is a risk worth taking. In this case, Senator Jackson's hard line is a little too hard.

Understanding With Knowledge

Obscenity continues to be an area of disagreement throughout the country. Some parents of high school students in a school in Vermont are objecting to certain reading materials in the school library, on the grounds that the material is obscene. Included is the magazine "Ms."

We can appreciate the concern of parents who seek to give their children a high moral standard in days when old values seem to be assaulted from all sides. Such is not an easy task, as every parent

It is important, too, that young people have an example set for them. There is need for the kind of example that teaches self-control, denial and moderation.

It is improper to assume that children will be exposed to everything under the sun and it makes no difference, therefore, what kind of example we set for them. They willbe exposed to things but they do need to understand that not all they are exposed to is good or acceptable.

That, we think, is the distinction that makes the matter of censorship so difficult. We have found no authority able to tell us when knowledge of something is of benefit and when it might be harmful.

Chances are that the effects of knowledge differ with different people and that what is good for one may be bad for another. But equally important is the fact that there is very little information, good or bad, that can be kept from young people

That does not speak in favor of anything and everything in a school library but it does support a broad and liberal content therein. Proper library materials will not avoid the explosive subjects of drugs and sex, for instance, but will present them in the proper way.

That presentation may explain the abuse of drugs, sex, alcohol, etc., but the objective is to encourage a proper role for such things. Exposure to objectionable elements of our society may not be the best thing that can happen to young people but ignorance of important factual material would be even more damaging.

Good taste is never out of style but censorship is a rather bottomless pit from which little good can come.

Dwight's School Closing

Rev. Jerome Pokorny made some statements regarding the closing of our school which I feel need answering.

He mentions 58 students at the closing but failed to mention there would be an enrollment in the 40's next year. The sisters did not abandon the school. There has been a study group consisting of lay and religious personnel for several years and the sisters have always stated they need an enrollment of 85 to maintain a school. We have been below this for several years. The abandonment came from the parish and not from the

He said there was an enrollment of 90 when he was here. There are not 90 grade-school children in the entire parish at the present. This problem is not unique to Dwight but faces all rural communities both in public and parochial schools.

Father Pokorny has taken every opportunity to degrade the type of religion being taught in our school and every change offered by the church. This does not help to increase enrollment

MRS. RICHARD HOTTOVY

Defends Federal Government

One of the fallacies that local governing bodies try to foster is their alleged superiority to the federal government located thousands of miles away. It sounds good but it is almost totally wrong. The state, for example, has a repressive tax and pay program for the average while the upper echelon can't be paid too much and gets a more favorable tax break. The federal government is just the opposite with more money to the average employe, who barely subsist, and less to the administrative

The Wall Street Journal writes that an investigative committee in Illinois finds: "Each and every year we are more in awe at the power of the insurance industry. Some of its lobbyists have a veto power second not even to the governor . . . Special interests can exert enormous pressure on the state level . . . Such a state of affairs isn't confined to Illinois - experts say that it is in the nation's 50 state capitals that many industries are most active and potent."

It was the federal government, not the states, that broke slavery and discrimination. It is the federal government that is more humane to the minorities.

Farmer Down And Up Again

Lincoln, Neb. My son-in-law, Herman E. Davis, from Benedict and 42 other young farmers from various farms in northern York County went to Washington, D.C. to inquire about the fertilizer shortage. I do not know if they accomplished anything or not. They saw the secretaries of various senators, and I think they were given the grand brush-off.

Of course, black-market fertilizer can be bought, with the farmer paying $450 for an amount that will cover about three acres. But who wants to pay these prices?

I don't envy the rich farmer for his bounteous crops when he has to pay $30 for a bushel of seed corn which plants three acres and which sometimes has to be replanted. And the price of machinery is so high. A combine picks and shells at one operation, then has to be dried. When machinery wears out, it wears out. And $40,500 is not peanuts.

Also, the farmer has the elements to combat, wind, too much rain, and hail that can wipe out a beautiful field of wheat or corn in half an hour. He takes his grain to market. He does not say he wants so much for it. No, he takes the price they pay. It's not like when a person buys other commodities, with the

The farmer gets knocked down, comes up again, trusting in the Almighty that next year will be better. I know, because I have been there. A farmer must love the land not to over-crop it or abuse it, and hoping there will be enough rainfall to nourish

Secrecy Proves Contagious NEW YORK — Three years ago this week attempt to impose on this country the equivalent of Britain's confining Official Secrets

the New York Times began printing the record of official arrogance, deception and blundering that came to be called the Pentagon Papers. The Nixon administration went to court to try to stop it. Two weeks later, after much frantic legal activity, the Supreme Court ruled out an

It was a famous victory for freedom of the press. Or was it? Have we — the courts, Congress, the press, the public — really learned the lesson of that case?

Looking back, one thing we can see clearly is the emptiness of the claims that publication would gravely harm the national security. Those arguments were on the same level of hysteria as the more recent one that the presidency would end if Richard Nixon had to comply with a subpoena. Three years on, it is certainly hard to think of any security damage from publication of the Pentagon Papers.

It was not the security of the country that was at stake, we know now; it was the security of the holders of power. President Nixon and Henry Kissinger felt themselves threatened. They responded with wiretaps, prosecutions. vengeance: paranoia rampant.

In the years since the Pentagon Papers broke upon our consciousness, we should also have learned a good deal about the dangers of secrecy. It is not only Watergate. We have discovered among many other things that the United States secretly bombed a neutral country, Cambodia, and secretly used artificial rainmaking as a technique of war. Such surreptitious practices required lying and deception to be woven into the pattern of official life.

Have we learned anything from this depressing record? Certainly there is no sign that the executive branch has, not under this

Right after the Pentagon Papers case, the government proceeded with an outrageous

Act, prohibiting the disclosure of any government information without official approval. That was the intent of the failed prosecution of Daniel Ellsberg for leaking the Pentagon

Just the other day, veto threats were raised against a modest improvement of the Freedom of Information Act now making its way through Congress. It hardly needs mention that this President has broken all records in claiming executive privilege.

In the courts, the attitude of deference toward security claims is hard to dislodge. In the Pentagon Papers case itself, a majority of the Supreme Court was moved by the government's security arguments. It was not only the dissenters - such as Justice Blackmun, warning that publication of "the critical documents" might mean "the death of soldiers, the destruction of alliances . . . " Justices White and Stewart were convinced that disclosure would "do substantial damage to public interests" but said with seeming reluctance that the government had not shown enough to justify an injunction.

Congress? It remains mostly a feeble opponent of executive secrecy and abuse of power. Crime is contagious, Justice Brandeis said.

So is secrecy. Give officials a whiff of its egodistorting fumes, and they are hooked. Secrecy has temptations even for those not allowed to know. In a new book on the Ellsberg trial, "Test of Loyalty," Peter Schrag shrewdly argues that most of us are just as happy to think that the dirty work of the state goes on beyond our knowledge - beyond our responsibility.

Freedom is uncomfortable, but it is necessary. That is the theory of our Constitution. We need to be reminded of it often, as we were in the case of the Pentagon Papers.

Wall Around President

WASHINGTON — A reporter "covering" a president's trip abroad rarely gets close enough to him to ask him a question. I've traveled over a considerable portion of the globe with Richard Nixon (before and after he entered the White House) with Dwight Eisenhower (as president-elect and later), and with John Kennedy. Personal relationships? Few and far the president and the chief of state with whom he was closeted for one hour, 13 minutes and 26 seconds was "rewarding." Or "fruitful." No other real details surface until the issuance of the "communique" at the close of a visit, and even that can be a document of nifty evasions and mind-numbing non sequiturs.

By and large, the newsman who draws a coveted assignment of this nature receives his news through intermediaries: Jim Hagerty in the case of Eisenhower, Pierre Salinger of the Kennedy administration, and Ron Ziegler, Gerry Warren, and Henry Kissinger in the travels and travails of Nixon.

To alleviate, slightly, the frustrations of the accompanying press as a whole, the White House staff appoints a daily "pool" of representatives of the various segments of the media. The "pool," a handful of notetakers and picture-snappers, is given special badges and allowed to go through the palace gate with the president and his party and, thus, even sometimes allowed to watch him lunch or dine with his hosts - from behind a potted plant, if one is available.

One or more members of the "pool" who write for newspapers or news-magazines are then required to write an instant report of what happened beyond the ken of their swarm of peers who were not permitted inside the gates. But now and then a reporter gets a break and actually sees his leader face to face, eyeball to eyeball, larynx to larynx.

The little group that went to Korea with President-elect Eisenhower never had an invitation to sit down with him while there or on the long voyage from Guam to Pearl Harbor aboard the cruiser Helena. It seemed preposterous, so one morning I walked to the guarded gate of his cottage at Kaneohe Marine Air Base, before he took off for golf under the Heavenly Hawaiian sun, and asked the guard to tell the general I was outside and wanted a cup of coffee. I had Don Whitehead of the Associated Press with me.

After a time, Ike sent out word that Don and I could come in. The coffee came, was affably served, and before Jim Hagerty could be aroused and hurry to take over as buffer, I asked the upcoming President if he'd care to tell us what he had said to his son John in a tense little private talk they had had on a snowcovered Korean front.

For one soul-searing second I considered saying "Khrushchev." But I chickened and said, "You did, Mr. President." Nixon was delighted. He turned to the dayto-day ruler of 800,000,000 Chinese and, jabbing him in the chest for emphasis, cried, "I told you...I told you...I told you!"

Pneumothorax, Quinsy, And Dangers Of X-Ray

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you discuss spontaneous collapse of a lung or lungs? I have heard that the collapse can be complete or partial due to blebs that pop, and these blisters are supposed to be a congential defect. Since they don't show up in X-ray, it is impossible to know you have them until a lung "blows out." At what age will this "pneumothorax" most likely occur and what are the chances that it would occur repeatedly? I am confused as to how this can happen to someone who is otherwise bealthy, of average weight and exercises moderately. - M.K.

You seem, except for a minor detail or so, to have a pretty good idea of what pneumonthorax, or lung collapse, is all about. As you say, it usually results from rupture of a bleb in the lung after which, like a punctured balloon, the lung more or less collapses and cannot draw much

 It most often happens to healthy young males, and most often between the ages of 20 and 40. It most commonly comes after heavy exertion or violent coughing but can occur with sudden changes in pressure — as high-altitude flying without pressurization. Or it may be a complication of such lung diseases as tuberculosis. bronchiectasis or others.

Small blebs can be invisible in an X-ray but large ones may be observed.

While it is conceivable it could occur in both lungs at once, that is improbable: usually it is just one side. There is a sharp chest pain, then shortness of breath in varying degrees.

The bleb usually heals over, with a little scar formation, and the lung resumes normal action. Whether the accident will happen again is unpredictable. It has been reported to recur in some women around menstruation. It may recur - but many times it happens once and that's the end of it.

Prosperity Peace Dividend

Senator Henry Jackson is critical of President Nixon's trip this week to the Middle East, characterizing it as dangerous and with little potential for real accomplishment. We tend to believe otherwise

It seems to us that this is quite a proper time for the President to visit Arab and Jewish lands. The peace that has been arranged between Syria and Israel in the Golan Heights is a tenuous one. Jackson sees this as a potential danger while we see it as an opportunity.

If Nixon can do anything to improve the foundation of that peace, it is well that he do so. Whatever else he might or might not have done, the President has been on the right track in foreign affairs.

He has literally harped on a peace theme and it has paid dividends. Peace, of course, is its own reward but it offers opportunity far beyond that.

The story of poverty throughout much of the world is an often told one. The news this week has detailed a summer crop outlook in Canada, Russia, China and the U.S. that is not encouraging.

While production may be as good as last year, wheat supplies are low and higher yields are needed if the hungry people of the world are to be fed. The real value of peace is that it offers a chance of doing something about this.

There is nothing that so drains the resources of a country as war. The need for military affairs is one that has sapped the economy of nations far and wide, leaving far too little for the humanitarian programs that are so badly needed.

Large sums are needed to improve production and distribution techniques. More money is needed to support the allocation of food on an economic basis that will make it available where need exists, without regard for the ability to

Every dollar that goes into guns and other armaments is taking food out of the mouths of the millions who haven't enough of it. The world desperately needs the human prosperity that could be a product of universal peace.

The President may be running some risk in making his Middle East jaunt but it is a risk worth taking. In this case, Senator Jackson's hard line is a little too hard.

Understanding With Knowledge

Obscenity continues to be an area of disagreement throughout the country. Some parents of high school students in a school in Vermont are objecting to certain reading materials in the school library, on the grounds that the material is obscene. Included is the magazine "Ms."

We can appreciate the concern of parents who seek to give their children a high moral standard in days when old values seem to be assaulted from all sides. Such is not an easy task, as every parent

It is important, too, that young people have an example set for them. There is need for the kind of example that teaches self-control, denial and moderation.

It is improper to assume that children will be exposed to everything under the sun and it makes no difference, therefore, what kind of example we set for them. They will be exposed to things but they do need to understand that not all they are exposed to is good or acceptable.

That, we think, is the distinction that makes the matter of censorship so difficult. We have found no authority able to tell us when knowledge of something is of benefit and when it might be harmful.

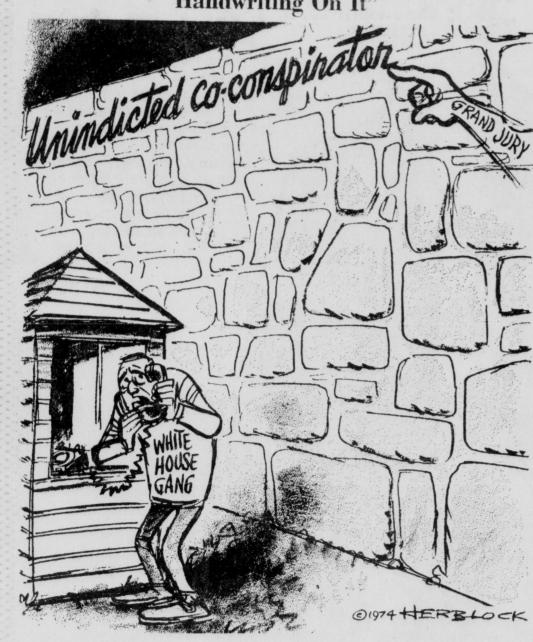

Chances are that the effects of knowledge differ with different people and that what is good for one may be bad for another. But equally important is the fact that there is very little information, good or bad, that can be kept from young people today.

That does not speak in favor of anything and everything in a school library but it does support a broad and liberal content therein. Proper library materials will not avoid the explosive subjects of drugs and sex, for instance, but will present them in the proper way.

That presentation may explain the abuse of drugs, sex, alcohol, etc., but the objective is to encourage a proper role for such things. Exposure to objectionable elements of our society may not be the best thing that can happen to young people but ignorance of important factual material would be even more damaging.

Good taste is never out of style but censorship is a rather bottomless pit from which little good can come.

Dwight's School Closing

Dwight, Neb. Rev. Jerome Pokorny made some statements regarding the closing of our school which I feel need answering

He mentions 58 students at the closing but failed to mention there would be an enrollment in the 40's next year. The sisters did not abandon the school. We have been below this for several years. The abandonment came from the parish and not from the

He said there was an enrollment of 90 when he was here. There are not 90 grade-school children in the entire parish at the present. This problem is not unique to Dwight but faces all rural communities both in public and parochial schools.

Defends Federal Government

Lincoln, Neb. One of the fallacies that local governing bodies try to foster is their alleged superiority to the federal government located thousands of miles away. It sounds good but it is almost totally wrong. The state, for example, has a repressive tax and pay program for the average while the upper echelon can't be paid too much and gets a more favorable tax break. The federal government is just the opposite with more money to the average employe, who barely subsist, and less to the administrative heads.

The Wall Street Journal writes that an investigative committee in Illinois finds: "Each and every year we are more in awe at the power of the insurance industry. Some of its lobbyists have a veto power second not even to the governor . . . Special interests can exert enormous pressure on the state level . . . Such a state of affairs isn't confined to Illinois - experts say that it is in the nation's 50 state capitals that many industries are most active and potent."

It was the federal government, not the states, that broke slavery and discrimination. It is the federal government that is more humane to the minorities.

Farmer Down And Up Again

My son-in-law, Herman E. Davis, from Benedict and 42 other young farmers from various farms in northern York County went to Washington, D.C. to inquire about the fertilizer shortage. I do not know if they accomplished anything or not. They saw the secretaries of various senators, and I think they were given the grand brush-off.

Of course, black-market fertilizer can be bought, with the farmer paying $450 for an amount that will cover about three acres. But who wants to pay these prices?

I don't envy the rich farmer for his bounteous crops when he has to pay $30 for a bushel of seed corn which plants three acres and which sometimes has to be replanted. And the price of machinery is so high. A combine picks and shells at one operation, then has to be dried. When machinery wears out, it wears out. And $40,500 is not peanuts.

Also, the farmer has the elements to combat, wind, too much rain, and hail that can wipe out a beautiful field of wheat or corn in half an hour. He takes his grain to market. He does not say he wants so much for it. No, he takes the price they pay. It's not like when a person buys other commodities, with the

The farmer gets knocked down, comes up again, trusting in the Almighty that next year will be better. I know, because I have been there. A farmer must love the land not to over-crop it or abuse it, and hoping there will be enough rainfall to nourish

Secrecy Proves Contagious

NEW YORK — Three years ago this week the New York Times began printing the record of official arrogance, deception and blundering that came to be called the Pentagon Papers. The Nixon administration went to court to try to stop it. Two weeks later, after much frantic legal activity, the Supreme Court ruled out an

It was a famous victory for freedom of the press. Or was it? Have we - the courts, Congress, the press, the public - really learned the lesson of that case?

Looking back, one thing we can see clearly is the emptiness of the claims that publication would gravely harm the national security. Those arguments were on the same level of hysteria as the more recent one that the presidency would end if Richard Nixon had to comply with a subpoena. Three years on, it is certainly hard to think of any security damage from publication of the Pentagon Papers.

It was not the security of the country that was at stake, we know now; it was the security of the holders of power. President Nixon and Henry Kissinger felt themselves threatened. They responded with wiretaps, prosecutions, vengeance: paranoia rampant.

In the years since the Pentagon Papers broke upon our consciousness, we should also have learned a good deal about the dangers of secrecy. It is not only Watergate. We have discovered among many other things that the United States secretly bombed a neutral country, Cambodia, and secretly used artificial rainmaking as a technique of war. Such surreptitious practices required lying and deception to be woven into the pattern of official life.

Have we learned anything from this depressing record? Certainly there is no sign that the executive branch has, not under this

Right after the Pentagon Papers case, the government proceeded with an outrageous

attempt to impose on this country the equivalent of Britain's confining Official Secrets Act, prohibiting the disclosure of any government information without official approval. That was the intent of the failed prosecution of Daniel Ellsberg for leaking the Pentagon

Just the other day, veto threats were raised against a modest improvement of the Freedom of Information Act now making its way through Congress. It hardly needs mention that this President has broken all records in claiming executive privilege.

In the courts, the attitude of deference toward security claims is hard to dislodge. In the Pentagon Papers case itself, a majority of the Supreme Court was moved by the government's security arguments. It was not only the dissenters — such as Justice Blackmun, warning that publication of "the critical documents" might mean "the death of soldiers, the destruction of alliances . . ." Justices White and Stewart were convinced that disclosure would "do substantial damage to public interests" but said with seeming reluctance that the government had not shown enough to justify distorting fumes, and they are hooked. Secrecy has temptations even for those not allowed to know. In a new book on the Ellsberg trial, "Test of Loyalty," Peter Schrag shrewdly argues that most of us are just as happy to think that the dirty work of the state goes on beyond our knowledge - beyond our responsibility.

Congress? It remains mostly a feeble opponent of executive secrecy and abuse of power. Crime is contagious, Justice Brandeis said. So is secrecy. Give officials a whiff of its ego-

Freedom is uncomfortable, but it is necessary. That is the theory of our Constitution. We need to be reminded of it often, as we were in the case of the Pentagon Papers.

Wall Around President

WASHINGTON — A reporter "covering" a president's trip abroad rarely gets close enough to him to ask him a question. I've traveled over a considerable portion of the globe with Richard Nixon (before and after he entered the White House) with Dwight Eisenhower (as president-elect and later), and with John Kennedy. Personal relationships? Few and far

By and large, the newsman who draws a coveted assignment of this nature receives his news through intermediaries: Jim Hagerty in the case of Eisenhower, Pierre Salinger of the Kennedy administration, and Ron Ziegler, Gerry Warren, and Henry Kissinger in the travels and travails of Nixon.

Thus we tend to be touted to report that the meeting between the president and the chief of state with whom he was closeted for one hour, 13 minutes and 26 seconds was "rewarding." Or "fruitful." No other real details surface until the issuance of the "communique" at the close of a visit, and even that can be a document of nifty evasions and mind-numbing non sequiturs.

Cheating Found On Staff Of Boy Scout Organization CHICAGO (AP) - The Boy some scout leaders created fic- head of the Chicago area council.

"Roberta has the will to overcome her illness," her fiance Charles Hayden, 22, said Monday. "She is very, very brave and has refused to give in." The two plan to get married on Saturday. The disease, which is often fatal, is believed to be in a state of remission at present.

Miss Hayes, a sophomore at North Fort Myers High School, was 11 when she learned that she was suffering from cancer of the blood. Robert Hayes, his wife and their seven children had just moved to Cape Coral from Bristol, Pa., when their daughter became ill.

"I was hospitalized for one day and then they sent me to Variety (Children's Hospital in Miami)," Miss Hayes said. "They didn't tell me what was wrong, home on Florida's Gulf Coast to . undergo chemotherapy treatment at the Miami hospital. But despite her illness, Miss Hayes returned to school and tried to live a normal life.

Two years ago she met Hayden when the Cape Coral policeman stopped at her father's restaurant for coffee.

"I had seen Roberta once or twice when I was a student at North Fort Myers High,' Hayden said. "And I had heard rumors that she had leukemia. Even when I first started dating her I never actually asked her about it."

Miss Hayes will wear a traditional long, white wedding gown and the couple will honeymoon in Marshall, Va., at a farm owned by Hayden's sister and brother-in-law.

"Then when we get back Roberta will continue at school. I want her to finish high school." Hayden said. "We look forward to the future and are planning for it. We aren't afraid of it."

LTS OKs Short Stop advantage of a "stop over privilege" starting Monday.

Dick Frank, Lincoln Transportation System (LTS) manager, announced that LTS passengers will be able to request a free transfer which will allow them to get off the bus, do some errands, and embark on a following bus - at no extra

Frank explained the system would operate this way: A passenger can get off at any stop enroute for one hour and

Bus riders will be able to take board a following bus on the same route going in the same direction, free of charge. Children paying a child's fare must be accompanied by an adult, he said

> Passengers may now stop before they reach their desitnation, do some shopping or run some errands within that one

"We feel this additional service will help to promote riders and will be well received by our passengers," Frank said.

Volunteer To Aid Clinton

A VISTA volunteer has been assigned to Lincoln to help in the redevelopment of the Clinton neighborhood, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf announced Mon-

The mayor said he has signed an agreement with the federal government for a VISTA volunteer to work for at least one year within the Community Development Department.

The volunteer will help the program within neighborhood associations, particularly in the Clinton area.

The agreement still must receive the approval of the federal government and Gov. J. James Exon, the mayor said.

Schwartzkopf said the volunteer will begin work in late July, if the program is approved.

Thone's Help For Farmer Said Minimal

Kenneth Thayer of Denton, vice president of the National Farm Organization in Nebraska's First and Second Congressional Districts, said Congressman Charles Thone's efforts to help livestock producers have been "too little and too late."

Democratic congressional nominee Hess Dvas and Gov. J. James Exon "have been appealing to Nebraska's all-Republican congressional delegation to do something for cattle feeders and hog producers" since early spring, Thayer said.

Both have "called for foreign beef import embargoes, government purchase of meat commodities and other needed steps," he said.

Thone, Thayer said, has only proposed "what I consider to be minimal help for cattle feeders and hog producers."

'Judges' Concern Needed'

Congressman Charles Thone Monday suggested that "every judge who sits on criminal cases should attend a police academy and then gain experience as a patrolman."

In his weekly newsletter, the First District Republican said some judges are "almost totally preoccupied with the rights of those accused of crimes.

"They don't have enough concern for the victims of crimes,"

"A judge who had worked as a policeman would have a better sense of balance about the rights of all those affected by a crime."

Thone said other steps to reduce crime should include an increase in the size of police forces, improved street lighting, court reform "so that those accused of crimes are brought to trial swiftly," and penal reform.

Daley Is Back On His Feet After Surgery

Chicago (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley is back on his feet after weekend surgery on an artery in his neck. It was intended to prevent recurrence of a mild stroke he suffered May 6.

A spokesman at Presbyterian-St. Luke's hospital said the 72year-old Daley is walking in his room without aid, and was making satisfactory progress, was cheerful and had a good appetite.

"His neck wound is healing well and he has required no main medication since surgery," added the spokesman.

Have Yourself A Jam Session

By LINDA OLIG_ Star Staff Writer

What do you do with fruits that have ripened too rapidly on the vine or tree? Or with damaged or oddly shaped fruits and berries?

They just aren't the right quality for canning or freezing.

But those fruits can be converted into excellent jellies, jams, conserves, marmalades or preserves, according to Esther Kriefels Wyant, Lancaster County extension agent.

Though those products fruits preserved with sugar and usually gelled - are basically alike, there are some differences:

-Jelly is made from the fruit juice; it is clear and firm.

-Jam, is made from crushed or ground fruit, tends to hold its shape but is less firm than jelly.

-Conserves are jams made from fruit mixtures, often with raisins or nuts added.

-Marmalade is a tender jelly with small pieces of fruit, usually citrus, distributed evenly throughout.

-Preserves are whole fruits in a thick syrup, often slightly gelled.

Ingredients

All you need to make jellies and the other spreadables so good on toast or in sandwiches are four essential ingredients:

-Fruit or fruit juice. The riper the fruit used in processing jellies and jams, the more flavorful the product.

-Pectin, found naturally in many underripe fruits, such as apples and plums. Commercial pectin, either dry or liquid, must be added to many of the fruits if the finished product is to hold its shape. The store-bought pectin additives are made from apples or citrus fruits. They cannot be used interchangably, the recipe will specify which pectin is to be

-Acid, required for flavor and gelling. With low-acid fruits, lemon juice or citric acid is commonly required. But the acid in commercial fruit pectins may do the trick. Be sure to follow the recipe's specifications.

-Sugar, either beet or cane.

Equipment

"You can't make a batch of jelly without a big and deep enough kettle" that accommodates a full, rolling boil, Mrs. Wyant said.

Other necessary equipment for making jellies includes:

-A jelly bag (or fruit press) for extracting the fruit juice. Several thicknesses of cheesecloth, old flannel or unbleached muslin may be stitched to form a jelly bag - but the fabric should be either white or natural and heavy enough to catch the pulp. Dampen the bag before straining the fruit.

-Candy or deep fat thermometer, especially important if pectin is not added.

-Measuring utensils.

-Clock with a second hand to ensure accurate timing.

—Containers. Several types may be used, even peanut butter jars and other commercially purchased containers -- if sealing with paraffin. However, if the recipe calls for any and lids are best.

Procedure

Here's a general procedure for making gelled products:

-Assemble the clean jars, inspecting them for nicks or scratches. Preheat jars and flat

-Wash fruit; prepare the fruit, preferably in an open kettle (pressure cooking may destroy the fruit's natural pectin) with a little water as possible, thus guaranteeing more flavorful juice.

-Strain off the pulp, if making jelly.

-Follow recipe specifications. NEVER DOUBLE A JELLY, JAM RECIPE.

-When dry, powdered pectin is to be added, mix it with the crushed fruit; add sugar when fruit mixture boils; stir until the sugar has dissolved. If using liquid pectin, first combine sugar with the fruit, then add pectin.

-Begin timing when the mixture begins to boil. The required length of time is usually one minute - thus the need for a second hand.

-If no commercial pectin is to be added, a longer cooking time often is required; you will have less jelly and jam, but a higher proportion of fruit to sugar.

—Test for doneness. This is a must, especially if no pectin is added. Two tests are recommended: the temperature test and the spoon test.

The temperature test requires a candy or deep fat thermometer. The jelly has been thoroughly cooked when the temperature registers eight degrees above the temperature of boiling water. However, climate and altitude may cause thermometer variations. Thus, it is wise to test the thermometer in boiling water for seven or eight minutes. This should be repeated each time the therprocessing period, canning jars mometer is used to guarantee

In two spare basement rooms, strung with extension cords, light switches and several hanging incandescent lights, Garland Ackels has mastered the art of growing African violets over the past three years.

Looking over his hundred-plus African violet plants of 18 varieties, Garland commented, "Isn't nature beautiful. All you have to do is use it.

"After I retired, I started out to do wood work. But I got tired of that and besides what if something happened at my age.

"Bein' as I like outside flowers and gardening, I decided to take up some indoor gardening," said Ackels, who has lived in Lincoln 43 years.

"I didn't know anything about African violets," he continued. "I didn't even know what they

But, after reading literature on the subject and securing a little advice from local nursery personnel, Ackels has proved that even a novice can be successful with African violets as illustrated by his beautiful, healthy blooming plants.

An enterprising man, Ackels has developed innovative methods of watering and stabilizing the humidity, as well as his own special potting soil recipe, which includes varying amounts of sterilized soil, lime, fish meal, egg shells and compost he prepares from Elm

"I buy soil, but I do a lot of addin' - a pinch of this and pinch of that. Just like my mother used to cook," he noted.

"I devised that," he explained pointing to the plastic ice cream containers under each pot. "I fill the containers with water — I use all rainwater — and add a soluble fertilizer.

"Then I run a wick from the water through a hole in the lid and into the pot.

"People used to tell me to just water the plants when they look dry. But that is a hit and miss job as far as I'm concerned," he explained.

"I came up with this selffeeding business and I haven't lost a plant so far.

"Some plants need more water than others. Some are heavy drinkers in other words," he added with a smile.

"Maybe I'm just lucky, but I spend very little time taking care of the plants. All I have to do is check the containers to see when they get low.

Miss Wobbenhorst's high marks came as the result of consistency in all aspects of the test, which included a written exam and practical exercises.

"She did as well in those areas involving the work of the policeman in the field as she did anywhere else," said John Doer, deputy assistant director of the school. Doer Doer said. "For instance, she scored 49 out of a possible 50 points in arrest techniques and 57 out of 60 in patrol techniques."

In two spare basement rooms, strung with extension cords, light switches and several hanging incandescent lights, Garland Ackels has mastered the art of growing African violets over the past three years.

Star Staff Writer

Looking over his hundred-plus African violet plants of 18 varieties, Garland commented, 'Isn't nature beautiful. All you have to do is use it.

"After I retired, I started out to do wood work. But I got tired of that and besides what if something happened at my age.

"Bein' as I like outside flowers and gardening, I decided to take up some indoor gardening," said Ackels, who has lived in Lincoln

"I didn't know anything about African violets," he continued. "I didn't even know what they

But, after reading literature on the subject and securing a little advice from local nursery

personnel, Ackels has proved that even a novice can be successful with African violets as illustrated by his beautiful, healthy blooming plants.

An enterprising man, Ackels has developed innovative methods of watering and stabilizing the humidity, as well as his own special potting soil recipe, which includes varying amounts of sterilized soil, lime, fish meal, egg shells and compost he prepares from Elm

"I buy soil, but I do a lot of addin' - a pinch of this and pinch of that. Just like my mother used to cook," he noted.

Mr. Ackels' Garden Grows and Grows

"I devised that," he explained pointing to the plastic ice cream containers under each pot. "I fill the containers with water - I use all rainwater - and add a soluble fertilizer.

"Then I run a wick from the water through a hole in the lid and into the pot.

"People used to tell me to just rooms. water the plants when they look dry. But that is a hit and miss job as far as I'm concerned," he explained.

"I came up with this selffeeding business and I haven't lost a plant so far.

might want to try an uncooked jam or jelly.

The result will be a quick, tasty treat. Uncooked jams or jellies should be stored in the refrigerator or freezer. The fruit has not been sterilized by cooking and may ferment or mold if kept at room temperature. Storage time is four to six weeks in the refrigerator, up to one year in the freezer. However, it tastes better when freshly made.

Here are a couple to try:

Strawberry Jam

- (with fresh berries) 3 c. mashed, fresh strawberries
- 5 c. sugar
- 1 pkg. powdered pectin
- 1 c. water

Add sugar to the mashed strawberries; mix well and allow to stand 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Dissolve the pectin in the water; bring to a boil; boil 1 minute. Add the hot pectin to the fruit and sugar mixture and stir for 2 mintues. Pour the jam into sterilized glasses or suitable freezer containers. Cover and let stand 24 to 48 hours, or until jelled. Store in refrigerator or freezer.

(Blackberries, sour cherries, raspberries, apricots or peaches may be substituted for the strawberries. If peaches or apricots are used, add 1 T. lemon juice.)

Strawberry Jam (with frozen berries)

- 2 boxes (20 oz.) or 21/4 c. sliced frozen berries
- 1 T. lemon juice
- 21/2 c. sugar
- 1 c. water 1 pkg. powdered pectin.

Alow frozen berries to warm to room temperature. Mix in lemon juice and sugar; let stand 20 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally to dissolve the sugar. Combine water and pectin in a saucepan and bring to a rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Slowly pour hot pectin' into berries, stirring all the while. Continue stirring 2 to 3 minutes. Pour jam into sterilized glasses or frozen food containers. Cover and allow to stand at room temperature until gelled. Store in refrigerator or freezer. Yield: 2 pints jam.

Grape Jelly

- 1 box powdered pectin
- 21/4 c. water
- ¾ c. (6 oz. can) frozen grape ĵuice

3¼ c. sugar

Combine pectin and water in large saucepan and bring to a full rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Lower heat. Add grape juice and sugar and stir until both are completely dissolved. Do not boil. Remove from heat and pour into hot, sterilized glasses and seal. Yield: 5 8-oz. glasses.

Make own Jam

And here are a couple of recipes for the more adventurous:

Spiced Bluberry-Peach Jam (Without added pectin)

- 4 c. chopped or ground peaches (about 4 lbs.)
- 4 c. blueberries (about 1qt. fresh or 2 10-oz. packages unsweetened frozen blueberries)
 - 2 t. lemon juice
 - ½ c. water
 - 5½ c. sugar 1/2 t. salt

 - 1/2 t. whole cloves ¼ t. whole allspice
- To prepare fruit: Sort and wash fully ripe peaches; peel and remove pits. Chop or grind the peaches. Sort, wash and remove any stems from fresh blueberries. Thaw frozen berries.

To make jam: Measure fruits into a kettle; add lemon juice and water. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sugar and salt and stir well. Add spices tied in cheesecloth. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly to 9 degrees F. above the boiling point of water, or until the mixture thickens. Remove from heat and take out spices. Skim. Fill and seal containers. Makes about 8 half-pint jars.

Rhubarb-Strawberry Jam (with liquid pectin)

- 1 c. cooked, red-stalked rhubarb (about 1 pound with
- ¼ c. water) 2½ c. crushed strawberries (about 1½ qt. boxes)
- 61/2 c. sugar
- ½ bottle liquid pectin

To prepare fruit: Wash rhubarb and slice thin or chop; do not peel. Add the water, cover, and simmer until tender (about 1 minute). Sort and wash fully ripe strawberries; remove stems and caps. Crush the berries.

To make jam: Measure prepared rhubarb and strawberries into a kettle. Add the sugar and stir well. Place on high heat and, stirring constantly, bring quickly to a full boil with bubbles over the entire surface. Boil hard I minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in the pectin. Skim. Fill and seal containers. Makes about 7 half-pints.

To prepare fruit: Sort and wash fully ripe peaches; peel and remove pits. Chop or grind the peaches. Sort, wash and remove any stems from fresh blueberries. Thaw frozen berries.

To make jam: Measure fruits into a kettle; add lemon juice and water. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sugar and salt and stir well. Add spices tied in cheesecloth. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly to 9 degrees F. above the boiling point of water, or until the mixture thickens. Remove from heat and take out spices. Skim. Fill and seal containers. Makes about 8 half-pint jars.

Rhubarb-Strawberry Jam (with liquid pectin)

- 1 c. cooked, red-stalked rhubarb (about 1 pound with ¹/₄ c. water)
- 21/2 c. crushed strawberries (about 11/2 qt. boxes)
- 6½ c. sugar ½ bottle liquid pectin

To prepare fruit: Wash rhubarb and slice thin or chop; do not peel. Add the water, cover, and simmer until tender (about 1 minute). Sort and wash fully ripe strawberries; remove stems and caps. Crush the berries.

To make jam: Measure prepared rhubarb and strawberries into a kettle. Add the sugar and stir well. Place on high heat and, stirring constantly, bring quickly to a full boil with bubbles over the entire surface. Boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in the pectin. Skim. Fill and seal containers. Makes about 7 half-pints.

She mentions that many of the wives feel strongly about the financial problems Mieke Tunney says she had trying to maintain the private schools, staffs, gardeners, special child care facilities, maintenance men, etc. on Sen. Court Increases Prosecutor Rights evidence indirectly obtained from defendants who were not fully informed of their rights.

The court's 8 - 1 decision stemmed from the conviction of Thomas W. Tucker, Pontiac, Mich., on a rape charge. Tucker appealed on ground that the prosecution learned of a witness only through a statement which Tucker gave police.

Police had not told Tucker that he had the right to have a lawyer provided free. Such a statement to suspects is required by a 1966 decision of the Supreme Court known as the Miranda ruling.

Tucker was arrested and questioned before the Miranda decision, but his trial came after

In other cases the court:

-Ruled 8-1 that states need not provide teachers to private, church-related schools in order to qualify for federal aid for teachers' salaries.

-Upheld price ceiling regulations of the Federal Power Commission on natural gas from Southern Louisiana, a decision the government said was important to a continued natural gas supply. The regulations contained incentives to funnel new gas reserves into interstate pipelines.

-Ruled that a 20 per cent tax on gross receipts of private parking lots and garages is not an unconstitutional infringement on private property, even when competing, publicly-operated lots enjoy tax exemptions and other advantages. That case arose in Pittsburgh.

speaking for the majority of the said.

Supreme Court has broadened said Tucker's interrogations the power of prosecutors to use showed "inadvertent disregard" of the procedural rules established under the Miranda decision. But Rehnquist said it did not violate Tucker's constitutional right not to be required to incriminate himself.

Just as the law does not require that a defendant receive a perfect trial, only a fair one, it cannot realistically require that policemen investigating serious crimes make no errors whatsoever," Rehnquist wrote.

He said there was no reason to believe the testimony of the witness was untrustworthy simply because Tucker was not advised of his right to appointed counsel.

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting, said the circurnstances did not meet constitutional standards for protecting Tucker's privilege against self-incrimination.

Justices William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall said a ruling that the testimony was inadmissible, coming years after the crime was committed, "would severely handicap any attempt to retry the defendant." One lawyer who has made a special study of the case said the decision appeared to affect directly only those defendants who were questioned before the Miranda ruling and tried afterward.

The Oakland County, Mich., prosecutor, L. Brooks Patterson, said Tucker was sentenced to 20-40 years in the Michigan State Prison, where he has been since 1966. "We knew we were going to win the case. It was just inconceivable based on the facts of the case that they would have Justice William H. Rehnquist, turned Tucker loose," Patterson

State Funds Possible For Private Schools

Supreme Court ruled Monday support of religion. that states using federal funds to provide teachers for educationally deprived children in public schools must provide comparable, but not necessarily identical, service to children in private schools.

The Supreme Court upheld a decision of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in a Missouri case, but gave a new reading to the circuit court's decision.

parents whose children attended school premises during regular private schools initiated the suit. They contended that their children were being treated unfairly because Missouri officials provided special teachers for educationally deprived children in public schools under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 without providing the same service to the private schools.

The case had come to the Supreme Court on the question of whether Title I requires the use of public school teachers in parochial schools and whether this would violate the First

However, the Supreme Court Justices concluded "that we cannot reach and decide either issue at this stage of the proceedings."

The Justices said the circuit court was correct in ruling that the parochial school children were entitled to some relief, but said the lower court's ruling "is not to be read to the effect that petitioners (Missouri school authorities) must submit and approve plans that employ the use A group of Kansas City of Title I teachers on private

Several alternatives might provide comparable services without necessarily placing public school teachers in private schools, the court said, including such options as neutral sites for the instruction or summer

Missouri had argued that its constitution banned the use of public teachers in private schools, and the Supreme Court said this was a matter to be determined under state law without federal intervention.

The Supreme Court also said the First Amendment question was never reached because no order has ever been entered by a court requiring the assignment of public teachers to parochial wants you to have the answer.

People often ask us at the Post Office about mailing things that are more important than everyday mail. Things like financial and legal papers. Or payments on bills with a penalty date.

With something important, it's a good idea to have proof that you mailed it. And proof it was received. That way, nobody can say you didn't send something when you did.

Certified Mail. Proof you mailed something.

People use Certified Mail when they don't want any question by anybody that something was mailed. It's good for things like mailing your income tax, or paying insurance bills.

Because with Certified Mail you can get a receipt that proves you mailed. And it shows the date, too. This costs 30¢. A record of delivery is kept at the Post Office.

Return Receipt. Proof your mail was received.

Sometimes your mail is so important you can't sleep unless you know it got where it was going.

That's when to use Return Receipt. Because you get a card back that shows you the signature of whoever received your mail.

When you use this service along with Certified Mail, you can get both proof you mailed and proof it was received Return Receipt costs 15¢.

Restricted Delivery. For personal and confidential mail.

With Restricted Delivery, we take your mail only to the person you say—and nobody else at that address can get it. Used with Return Receipt, you'll get a card back with that person's signature, and only his signature. The only exception is to government officials whose volume of mail makes Restricted Delivery impossible. Restricted Delivery is good for things like very personal letters when you want only one certain person to see what you wrote. And for confidential mail, like when you complete a credit application. Or send contract papers to your bank or lawyer. Restricted Delivery costs an extra 50¢.

Registered Mail. Extra security for valuables.

Registered Mail is the safest way to mail things of value. For example, jewelry or checks that are negotiable.

Let's say you send a watch to your nephew for a graduation present, and you send it Registered Mail. That watch will be signed in and out every step on its way to your nephew. Which means someone in the Post Office is always personally responsible for its safety. Registered Mail starts at 95°, and you get insurance for anywhere up to $10,000.

We're here to help.

There are many different ways you can send your mail. And, we want you to know how to use our different services when you need them. So we've put together a handy booklet for you called A Consumer's Guide to Postal Services and Products.

It's easy to read, and will give you lots of help with your mail. They're free while they last at your Post Office.

Fat Men Should Read This Column

Don't get me wrong, I think Woody Hayes is one of the fine football coaches of the country, maybe of all time, but I'm not really surprised he suffered a heart attack and has hypertension (high blood pressure).

Perhaps I shouldn't be writing a column advising anybody how to take care of himself, but overweight people are susceptible to heart attacks, high blood pressure and strokes.

You've seen pictures of Woody on the sidelines. He seldom ever puts on a coat. Thus, you get a good view of his stomach and it is, to put it mildly, large.

The high blood pressure doesn't necessarily come about because of the type of work he does. More than likely it's because he's too heavy.

As an ex-fat man, I am talking from experience. I was more fortunate than Woody in that I discovered my high blood pressure before I had a stroke or heart attack.

When I visited the Ohio State coach along with others on the Big Ten Skywriters tour last September it was all I could do to keep from going up to Woody and suggesting that he go on a diet and get rid of that excess poundage. He might not have taken kindly to the thought of a

Get Well, Woody

I hope Woody Hayes has a complete recovery and is able to coach again. Despite his run-ins with reporters and photographers, he has been good for football. You don't last 23 years at Ohio State if you don't have something on the ball.

There is a human side to Woody most people don't know about. Big Ten Skywriters each year eagerly await his philisophical discussion which could be about just any subject.

Woody has written two books. The first one was on the technical side of football, called "Hot Line To Victory," and the other was entitled "You Win With People."

Certainly Hayes has had a lot of good people play football with him, but has their best interests at heart more than his own. That could explain his present predicament since he's a tireless worker.

He probably can't tell you his won-lost record (which is 159-49-8), but he can tell you without hesitation that his squads have the highest graduation rate in the Big Ten.

He doesn't give up the academic drive after a player has finished his eligibility. Dick Schaffrath, then several years into his career-with the Cleveland Browns, came up to Paul Hornung, sports editor of The Columbus Dispatch, a few years ago and asked him, "Please tell Woody, when you see him, that I'm working on my degree. He gets on me every time I run into

Hayes stories are legend around Columbus. His hatred of traditional rival Michigan is so strong he refuses to say the name. Instead, he refers to Michigan as "the school up North." One time he coasted across the Michigan-Ohio state line with an empty tank rather than pay gasoline tax in Michigan.

Brother, that's hatred.

Miami Topples OU, 5= . USC Downs SIU, 5-3

By DAVE SITTLER

Omaha — As expected, the champion and the No. 1 challenger emerged Monday as the only undefeated teams after the second round of the College World Series . . . but not without a couple of tough fights.

Defending champion Southern California had to come from three runs down to whip pesky Southern Illinois, 5-3, while the nation's No. 1 ranked club, Miami University toppled Big Eight champion Oklahoma, 5-1.

Coach Rod Dedeaux's champion Trojans, seeking a fifth straight national crown, got a strong pitching effort out of Mark Barr to whip the Salukis from Carbondale, Ill.

But as strong as Barr's performance was, it couldn't quite match the gutty effort of Miami's Stan Jakubowski as action in this 28th annual event continued at Rosenblatt Stadium in front of 9,130 fans Monday night.

Jakubowski, a sophomore from Union. N.J., who was pitching with only two-days rest and two hours notice, limited the Big Eight champion Sooners to only six hits as he pitched his second complete game of the series.

Jakubowski was a late replacement for scheduled starter Tom Baxter who came down with a sore throat Monday afternoon Jakubowski had also went the distance Friday when the Hurricanes defeated Harvard, 4-1, in the opening round.

Coach Ron Fraser's Hurricanes needed all the help they could get from the 5-11, 173-pound right hander to overcome a superb pitching job by Oklahoma's Bob Shirley.

Shirley, had the Hurricanes on the ropes and was coasting along with a no-hitter through 6 2/3 inning, when Miami suddenly struck for all

Hurricane leftfield Rick D'Innocenzio broke up Shirley's no-hitter when he blasted a curve ball against the leftfield wall for a double. D'Innocenzio's shot drove in Vaugh Flick who had walked and moved to second by a walk by

But Shirley appeared to have worked himself out of trouble when he struck out the next batter. But a single and a walk led Oklahoma coach Enos Demore to yank Shirley in favor of relief pitcher Ken Palmer.

Palmer promptly gave up three straight hits and the Hurricanes, who share the No. 1 ranking with the University of Texas, had all the runs they needed to take a giant step toward the College World Series title.

An understandably tired Jakubowski, who upped his record to 15-2, admitted that he was surprised to last the entire game.

"This is the first time I have ever pitched with only two days rest and wasn't sure I could handle it," he said. "My arm started to drag in the eighth inning. But I told coach Fraser I wanted to try and suck it up and finish."

Fraser, whose club improved its record to 50-9, compared to Oklahoma's 43-6, said he decided to go with Jakubowski a man at a time the last two innings.

"When he started to tire, I just watched how he did with each batter," Fraser said. "He hung in there, showing that he is a real winner."

Semore said he thought the balk call on Shirley by umpire Tom Ravishiere was a big key in his club's defeat.

"The balk really hurt him (Shirley)," Seamore said. "Without a balk, the runner's on first and he can't score on the double. I think the balk made a big difference.'

Monday's loss sends the No. 3 ranked Sooners against Texas at 5 p.m. Tuesday. The loser of that contest will be elimanated from the Southern Illinois, 3-0, in the second inning. After Southern Illinois, coached by Richard "Itchy" Jones scrapped and scrambled to the early lead via two Southern California errors and only one infield hit, Barr settled down and blanked the Salukis the rest of the way.

Southern Cal slowly chipped away at the 3-0 deficit behind some very balanced hitting which had produced two runs in both the fourth and sixth innings.

The Trojans upped their record to 47-19 and will square-off against Miami in a battle of the unbeatens Wednesday night in the series only single game set for 7:30 p.m.

Omaha - Seton Hall University became the second team to be eliminated from this year's College World Series Monday, and the Pirates may have set some sort of quickness record in the process.

Forced to play back-to-back contests Monday at Rosenblatt Stadium because of rainouts Saturday and Sunday, Seton Hall dropped consecutive decisions to Southern Illinois and Texas by 5-1 and 12-2 scores, respectively.

Coach Mike Shepard's Pirates can into two rugged pitchers in Southern Illinois' Rod Hodges and Texas' Jim Gideon.

Hodges held Seton Hall to only four hits, three singles and a double, while the Salukis pounded out 13 hits and upped its season mark to 48-10.

Texas, who lost to Southern California Saturday, and the Pirates squared off at 1 p.m. with the loser destined to join Harvard on the sidelines of this double elimination affair.

The Longhorns, who entered the tourney as the co-No. 1 team in the nation with Miami University, left little doubt of the outcome as they scored four runs in the first inning on the strength of designated hitter, Mickey Reichanbach's grand slam home

Gideon, who allowed only one hit but walked seven batters including four straight at one point, set a NCAA record as a helped the Longhorns hike their season record to 52-7.

Monday's win was the 19th this eason for the sophomore hurler, tying a record set by Arizona State's Larry Gura in "I was really struggling most of the time," the 6-4, 196-pound Gideon said. "About all I had was my fastball, and excellent infield defense." In addition to the excellent defense, Gideon was also backed by some rugged hitting by his teammates who banged out 13

Leftfielder Terry Pyka and third baseman Keith Moreland each had three hits, while first baseman Rick Burley and rightfielder Tom Ball added two hits to the attack which, of course, was paced by Reinchenbach's-"The guy (Reichenbach) hit one to heaven," Seton Hall coach Mike Sheppard said of the blast which sailed high over the 370-foot mark in rightfield.

Texas will face Oklahoma, a 5-1 loser to Miami on Monday, at 5 p.m. on Tuesday.

Los Angeles (UPI) — Joe Torre led off the 11th inning with a home run off knuckelballer Charlie Hough Monday night to snap a 2-2 tie and lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Torre's fourth homer of the season enabled the Cardinals to remain two games behind first place Philadelphia in the National League East while the loss kept the Dodgers from moving nine games in front of Cincinnati in the West.

Acknowledging that "it's nice to be wanted," Lexington's Pat Hodges has accepted a basketball scholarship to attend Hastings College. Hodges, the Sunday Journal and Star's High School Male Athlete of the Year, cited Hastings' winning tradition and his desire to compete in basketball as determining factors in finalizing his decision. "I just couldn't see the walk-on route," said Hodges, who's also entertained recruiting overtures to compete in football and track on the collegiate level.

Dr. Lynn Farrell, Hastings College athletic director and basketball coach, labeled Hodges "very possibly the best high school Athlete of the Year

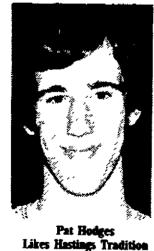

"When you analyze what he accomplished in three sports his senior year, he has to rank right up there at the top," observed Farrell.

Aurora's Tom Kropp, another who's had the "best ever" Athlete of the Year tag, also decided to go the Nebraska state college route three years ago at Kearney State where he became the school's all-time leading basketball scorer as a junior.

Fat Men Should Read This Column

Don't get me wrong, I think Woody Hayes is one of the fine football coaches of the country, maybe of all time, but I'm not really surprised he suffered a heart attack and has hypertension (high blood pressure).

Perhaps I shouldn't be writing a column advising anybody how to take care of himself, but overweight people are susceptible to heart attacks, high blood pressure and strokes.

You've seen pictures of Woody on the sidelines. He seldom ever puts on a coat. Thus, you get a good view of his stomach and it is, to put it mildly, large.

The high blood pressure doesn't necessarily come about because of the type of work he does. More than likely it's because he's too heavy.

As an ex-fat man, I am talking from experience. I was more fortunate than Woody in that I discovered my high blood pressure before I had a stroke or heart attack.

When I visited the Ohio State coach along with others on the Big Ten Skywriters tour last September it was all I could do to keep from going up to Woody and suggesting that he go on a diet and get rid of that excess poundage.

He might not have taken kindly to the thought of a sportswriter telling him what to do. He has been known to punch people from my profession in the nose.

I weighed 242 pounds and my back hurt quite a bit back in October 1972 when a doctor friend of mine was goaded by the ladies at a party to take everyone's blood pressure.

After he took mine (on both arms), he whispered in my ear to see a doctor right away. Since he didn't live in the same town, I had to find one, which isn't always an easy chore.

To make a long story short, the doctor I landed put me on a 1,000 calorie diet and gave me pills for my blood pressure. I now weigh 168 and my blood pressure is normal.

If you're fat, or even pleasingly plump, go see a doctor. Get your blood pressure checked, lose those excess pounds and you'll live to watch the Cornhuskers play football for years to

Get Well, Woody

I hope Woody Hayes has a complete recovery and is able to coach again. Despite his run-ins with reporters and photographers, he has been good for football. You don't last 23 years at Ohio State if you don't have something on the ball.

There is a human side to Woody most people don't know about. Big Ten Skywriters each year eagerly await his philisophical discussion which could be about just any subject.

Woody has written two books. The first one was on the technical side of football, called "Hot Line To Victory," and the other was entitled "You Win With People."

Certainly Hayes has had a lot of good people play football with him, but has their best interests at heart more than his own. That could explain his present predicament since he's a

He probably can't tell you his won-lost record (which is 159-49-8), but he can tell you without hesitation that his squads have the highest graduation rate in the Big Ten.

He doesn't give up the academic drive after a player has finished his eligibility. Dick Schaffrath, then several years into his career with the Cleveland Browns, came up to Paul Hornung, sports editor of The Columbus Dispatch, a few years ago and asked him, "Please tell Woody, when you see him, that I'm working on my degree. He gets on me every time I run into

Hayes stories are legend around Columbus. His hatred of traditional rival Michigan is so strong he refuses to say the name. Instead, he refers to Michigan as "the school up North." One time he coasted across the Michigan-Ohio state line with an empty tank rather than pay gasoline tax in Michigan.

Brother, that's hatred.

Miami Topples OU, 527 . USC Downs SIU, 5-3

By DAVE SITTLER

Omaha - As expected, the champion and the No. 1 challenger emerged Monday as the only undefeated teams after the second round of the College World Series . . . but not without a couple of tough fights.

Defending champion Southern California had to come from three runs down to whip pesky Southern Illinois, 5-3, while the nation's No. 1 ranked club, Miami University toppled Big Eight champion Oklahoma, 5-1.

Coach Rod Dedeaux's champion Trojans, seeking a fifth straight national crown, got a strong pitching effort out of Mark Barr to whip the Salukis from Carbondale, Ill.

But as strong as Barr's performance was, it couldn't quite match the gutty effort of Miami's Stan Jakubowski as action in this 28th annual event continued at Rosenblatt Stadium in front of 9,130 fans Monday night.

Jakubowski, a sophomore from Union. N.J., who was pitching with only two-days rest and two hours notice, limited the Big Eight champion Sooners to only six hits as he pitched his second complete game of the series.

Jakubowski was a late replacement for scheduled starter Tom Baxter who came down with a sore throat Monday afternoon Jakubowski had also went the distance Friday when the Hurricanes defeated Harvard, 4-1, in the opening round.

Coach Ron Fraser's Hurricanes needed all the help they could get from the 5-11, 173-pound right hander to overcome a superb pitching job by Oklahoma's Bob Shirley.

Shirley, had the Hurricanes on the ropes and was coasting along with a no-hitter through 6 2/3 inning, when Miami suddenly struck for all

Hurricane leftfield Rick D'Innocenzio broke up Shirley's no-hitter when he blasted a curve ball against the leftfield wall for a double. D'Innocenzio's shot drove in Vaugh Flick who had walked and moved to second by a walk by

But Shirley appeared to have worked himself out of trouble when he struck out the next batter. But a single and a walk led Oklahoma coach Enos Demore to yank Shirley in favor of relief pitcher Ken Palmer.

Palmer promptly gave up three straight hits

and the Hurricanes, who share the No. 1 ranking with the University of Texas, had all the runs they needed to take a giant step toward the College World Series title.

An understandably tired Jakubowski, who upped his record to 15-2, admitted that he was surprised to last the entire game.

"This is the first time I have ever pitched with only two days rest and wasn't sure I could handle it," he said. "My arm started to drag in the eighth inning. But I told coach Fraser I wanted to try and suck it up and finish. Fraser, whose club improved its record to 50-9, compared to Oklahoma's 43-6, said he decided to go with Jakubowski a man at a time the last two innings.

'When he started to tire, I just watched how he did with each batter," Fraser said. "He hung in there, showing that he is a real winner."

Semore said he thought the balk call on Shirley by umpire Tom Ravishiere was a big key in his club's defeat.

"The balk really hurt him (Shirley)," Seamore said. "Without a balk, the runner's on first and he can't score on the double. I think

Barr, a veteran of past College World Series', displayed his poise in the nightcap by failing to get ruffled after falling behind Southern Illinois, 3-0, in the second inning.

After Southern Illinois, coached by Richard "Itchy" Jones scrapped and scrambled to the early lead via two Southern California errors and only one infield hit, Barr settled down and blanked the Salukis the rest of the way.

Southern Cal slowly chipped away at the 3-0 deficit behind some very balanced hitting which had produced two runs in both the fourth and sixth innings.

The Trojans upped their record to 47-19 and will square-off against Miami in a battle of the unbeatens Wednesday night in the series only single game set for 7:30 p.m.

Southern Illinois, now 48-11 on the year, will return tonight to face the cinderella Bears from the University of Northern Colorado at 8 p.m.

Omaha - Seton Hall University became the second team to be eliminated from this year's College World Series Monday, and the Pirates may have set some sort of quickness record in the process.

Forced to play back-to-back contests Monday at Rosenblatt Stadium because of rainouts Saturday and Sunday, Seton Hall dropped consecutive decisions to Southern Illinois and Texas by 5-1 and 12-2 scores, respectively.

Coach Mike Shepard's Pirates ran into two rugged pitchers in Southern Illinois' Rod Hodges and Texas' Jim Gideon. Hodges held Seton Hall to only four hits, three singles and a double, while the Salukis pounded out 13 hits and upped its season mark to 48-10.

Texas, who lost to Southern California Saturday, and the Pirates squared off at 1 p.m. with the loser destined to join Harvard on the sidelines of this double-elimination affair.

The Longhorns, who entered the tourney as the co-No. 1 team in the nation with Miami University, left little doubt of the outcome as they scored four runs in the first inning on the strength of designated hitter, Mickey Reichanbach's grand slam home

Gideon, who allowed only one hit but walked seven batters including four straight at one point, set a NCAA record as a helped the Longhorns hike their season record to 52-7.

Monday's win was the 19th this eason for the sophomore hurler, tying a record set by Arizona State's Larry Gura in

"I was really struggling most of the time," the 6-4, 196-pound Gideon said. "About all I had was my fastball, and excellent infield defense."

In addition to the excellent defense, Gideon was also backed by some rugged hitting by his teammates who banged out 13

Leftfielder Terry Pyka and third baseman Keith Moreland each had three hits, while first baseman Rick Buriey and rightfielder Tom Ball added two hits to the attack which, of course, was paced by Reinchenbach's grand slam.

"The guy (Reichenbach) hit one to heaven," Seton Hall coach Mike Sheppard said of the blast which sailed high over the 370-foot mark in rightfield.

Sonics Ink Burleson

SEATTLE (UPI) - First round pick Tom Burleson, a 7-2 center from North Carolina State, Monday signed a fivevear, no-cut contract with the Seattle Super Sonics of the National Basketball Associa-

Seattle picked Burleson in the first round of the draft after trading starting guard Dick Snyder to the Cavaliers for Cleveland's No. 3 draft position. The Indiana Pacers had the coach Bill Russell said. Russell, who virtually wrote the book on how to play center, said he planned to bring force him into a pressure situation until he was ready. Sonics owner Sam Schulman said only "no comment" to the question of whether this made Burleson the highest paid Sonic in the history of the club.

Coaches' Cars 'Proper'

Columbus, Ohio (AP) -Coaches at Ohio State University did not act improperly when they accepted for use - free of charge - automobiles supplied by Columbus area dealers, a university official said Monday.

"It is regrettable that publicity surrounding this matter has implied wrongdoing," Richard Armitage, OSU's vice president for student services, said in a state-"Unfortunately, in such circumstances the explanation and of wrongdoing," he said.

The university's student newspaper, The Lantern, reported several days ago coaches had accepted the use of cars in exchange for complimentary tickets to sporting events.

Home Runs Power SD

San Diego (UPI) - Home runs by Clarence Gaston and Dave Winfield keyed a nine run attack in the last two innings Monday night to give the San Diego Padres a come-from-behind 9-8 victory over the Pittsburgh

Pirates. Former New York Yankee Horace Clarke, playing his first game for San Diego since moving into the National League, drove in the winning run with a single to center scoring Derrel Thomas from second base. San Diego scored four times in the eighth inning behind Gaston's third home of the year and Winfield's double. Winfield triggered a five-run uprising in the ninth inning with his ninth home run of the year.

Twins Rout Orioles

BLOOMINGTON (AP) -Bobby Darwin's two-run triple highlighted a five-run seventh inning, leading the Minnesota Twins to a 9-1 rout of the Baltimore Orioles Monday night.

Tony Oliva lined a two-run single before Darwin's triple and Eric Soderholm drove in the fifth run of the inning with a single. Soderholm singled in Minnesota's first two runs in the first inning and the Twins took a 3-0 lead in the fourth off Dave

McNally, 4-5, when Rod Carew singled home Glenn Borgmann. Baltimore scored a run in the sixth inning when Tommy Davis led off with a triple and scored on a grounder. Minnesota starting pitcher Ray Corbin was removed from the game in the first inning after being struck on the pitching hand by a line drive. Corbin was taken to a local hospital where xrays revealed a bruise at the base of the right thumb. Relief pitcher Bill Butler, who pitched 42-3 innings, was credited with his first victory of the year against one loss.

Rangers Hit Detroit, 6-3

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Spéncer and Duke Sims each knocked in two runs to lead the Texas Rangers to a 6-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers in Billy Martin's return to Detroit Monday night.

Jackie Brown. 5-2, scattered eight Tiger hits before Steve Foucault came on in the eighth to help the Rangers win their eighth game in their last 11.

Martin, a crowd pleaser durmanager, received an ovation when he took the lineup card to home plate before the game. The first-year Texas manager was also cheered loudly when he argued a pickoff call in the third inning.

The Rangers jumped on Joe Coleman for three runs in the first inning and two more in the fourth, raking him for 12 hits in just five innings.

Spencer singled in two runs in doubled in the other, while former Tiger Duke Sims belted a two-run homer in the fourth. Consecutive singles by Hargrove. Spencer and Toby Harseventh.

Detroit's runs came in the seventh. Pinch-hitter Norm Cash tripled in one run and Gary Sutherland singled in Cash.

Falstaff Tips Stan's For Initial Loss, 5-0

By 30B MOYER

Falstaff's Jay Phipps and Lefty Sheary blanked Stan's Lounge, 5-0, Monday night at Ballard Field to give Stan's its initial defeat of the season in the Lincoln AAA softball league.

Faistaff scored all its runs in the top of the fifth inning.

Rick Boals, Falstaff's tophitter coming into the fray with a .444 mark, led off the inning with a long blast that cleared the left field wall but was ruled foul on a protested call.

After the controversy subsided, Stan's pitcher John Jackson came unglued, walking Boals and giving up a hit to Duane Eichorn. After Bill Slaughter grounded into a fielder's choice, Ken Forbes lined a single to load up the Jackson rallied temporarily, getting Ned Eckman to pop up, but then a walk to Tom Novak brought in one run, and on a 3-2 count, Dan Cook hit a homer over the left-center field fence to ice the victory.

It was the first loss in 13 outings for Stan's, while Falstaff improved its record to 8-5, good for third place in the loop. Dean Brothers is in second with an 8-4

Phipps, now 6-2 on the season, pitched five flawless innings, allowing four hits and striking out six. He walked none.

Denver Tops Omaha, 9-7

DENVER (AP) - Roe Skidmore slammed a two-run homer in the fifth inning to lead the Denver Bears to a 9-7 American Association baseball victory over the Omaha Royals Monday

Skidmore's blast put the Bears ahead for good in a slug- of the baseball season fest in which both teams rapped a total of 25 hits.

Denver's Ray Busse also hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning.

Omaha's Buddy Hunter slammed a three-run homer in the second — his only hit in four trips to the plate.

The win lifted Denver out of last place in the Western Division, leaving the Bears a halfgame ahead of Wichita.

Omaha is still in third place in the East.

Jim Crawford posted his third win against four losses. Omaha's Paul Pelz absorbed his fourth loss against three wins.

Piniella's Hit Paces NY

NEW YORK (AP) - Lou Piniella produced the winning run with a double in the eighth inning, leading the New York Yankees to a 7-5 victory over the California Angels Monday night.

Elliot Maddox drew a one-out walk off reliever Skip Lockwood and came in with the tiebreaking run on Piniella's double into the left-field corner. The Yankees added their seventh run on Bobby Murcer's single.

The Yankees built their lead to 5-3 on a sacrifice fly by Munson in the fourth. The Angels cut the Yankee lead to one run on Joe Lahoud's seventh homer of the year in the sixth inning.

Denny Doyle's RBI single produced the first run in the Angel first. A single by Lee Stanton and an error by Maddox, the Yankee center fielder, gave California its second run and the third came in on a double by Frank Robinson.

A sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter McNally (L,4-5) Winston Llenas in the seventh inning tied the game at 5-5 for California.

The Yankees wiped out a 3-0 California lead with a run in the first on Thurman Munson's RBI single and three more in a second-inning rally capped by Murcer's two-run single. Chris Chambliss led off the New York second with his third home run

Twins Rout Orioles

BLOOMINGTON (AP) -Bobby Darwin's two-run triple highlighted a five-run seventh inning, leading the Minnesota Twins to a 9-1 rout of the Baltimore Orioles Monday night.

Tony Oliva lined a two-run single before Darwin's triple and Eric Soderholm drove in the fifth run of the inning with a single Soderholm singled in Minnesota's first two runs in the first inning and the Twins took a 3-0 lead in the fourth off Dave McNally, 4-5, when Rod Carew singled home Glenn Borgmann.

Baltimore scored a run in the sixth inning when Tommy Davis led off with a triple and scored on a grounder.

Minnesota starting pitcher Ray Corbin was removed from the game in the first inning after being struck on the pitching hand by a line drive. Corbin was taken to a local hospital where xrays revealed a bruise at the base of the right thumb.

Relief pitcher Bill Butler, who pitched 42-3 innings, was credited with his first victory of the year against one loss.

Bob Arum, head of Top Rank Inc. which has specialized in closed-circuit TV boxing promotions, said beginning in September there will be 1½-hour shows once a month from 11:30 p.m., EDT, to 1 a.m., EDT, on the American Broadcasting Co. network.

In New York, an ABC spokesman would only say there have been discussions.

"We're going to show there is more to boxing than Muhammad Ali, that there is not only heavyweights," Arum told newsmen. "We're going to show the up and coming fighters. There are lots of youngsters around that can fight and the public will see them.

Arum said there would be two bouts on the program and they probably will originate from the

Lonborg Aids Phillies' Win

HOUSTON (AP) - The Philadelphia Phillies erupted for eight runs in the first two innings Monday night and rode the fivehit pitching of Jim Lonborg to a 12-0 romp over the Houston Astros

Lonborg, 7-5, allowed singles to Greg Gross in the first and Roger Metzger in the fourth, but both runners were erased on double plays. Bob Watson's twoout double in the seventh was the only extra-base hit off Lonborg, who also gave up two-out singles in the ninth to Metzger and Cesar Cedeno.

Six of the runs were charged to veteran left-hander Claude Osteen, 5-6, who last4d just 1 1/3 innings. He gave up six hits before being replaced by Jim York in the second inning.

Mike Schmidt drove in three runs with three hits and Bill Robinson and Mike Anderson had a pair of RBIs apiece for the Phils. Robinson's basesloaded double was the big hit of the Phils' three-run first inning, while Schmidt's three-run double was the key blow in the five-run fifth.

The Phils added four more runs in the ninth on a walk and four singles.

The Millard Piccolos' solid defense carried them through three Sunday games and the championship of the Sam's Slow Pitch Softball tournament at Woods Park.

The Piccolos made only three errors en route to wins over Omaha Andy's Ark 2-0, Millard Jamies Lounge 13-12 and Lincoln Library Lounge 6-3 in the

The Piccolos closest shave was against Jamies Lounge. Trailing 12-10 going into the bottom of the seventh and last inning, Denny Witcofskiin drilled a two-out, three-run homer to provide the victory.

The Library Lounge, the only Lincoln team left in the tournament on Sunday out of the 12 that entered the 31-team, single elimination field, defeated the South Sioux City Merchants 4-1 and the Omaha Blues 18-13 before succumbing in the championship.

Piccolos Win Meet

The Millard Piccolos' solid defense carried them through three Sunday games and the championship of the Sam's Slow Pitch Softball tournament at Woods Park.

The Piccolos made only three errors en route to wins over Omaha Andy's Ark 2-0, Millard Jamies Lounge 13-12 and Lincoln Library Lounge 6-3 in the finale

The Piccolos closest shave was against Jamies Lounge. Trailing 12-10 going into the bottom of the seventh and last inning, Denny Witcofskiin drilled a two-out, three-run homer to provide the victory

The Library Lounge, the only Lincoln team left in the tournament on Sunday out of the 12 that entered the 31-team, single elimination field, defeated the South Sioux City Merchants 4-1 and the Omaha Blues 18-13 before succumbing in the championship.

"Well, if you hit the ball, what does it matter how you do it." the 28-year-old rightfielder says.

"I'm not as dumb a hitter as some people think," says the native of Ruston, La., who twice led the International League in hitting and has been runnerup for the NL title in two of his three previous full seasons with the Braves.

"I'm just a free swinger," says the 5-foot-11, 190-pounder, whose philosophy on hitting has produced 94 hits in just 57 games.

"Anything I can reach is mine," he states. "When the pitcher turns it loose, I go after it. I don't worry too much about bad pitches. When I start being selective, I'm in trouble.

So far, the only ones in trouble have been opposing pitchers.

Bruins, Flyers Head All-Stars

MONTREAL (UPI) - The Boston Bruins and the Philadelphia Flyers placed seven players on the two National Hockey League All-Star teams Monday, the second consecutive year the two division leading teams have taken that many positions.

The NHL East division champion Bruins have three players on the first All-Star team-defenseman Bobby Orr, center Phil Esposito and right wing Ken Hodge. Boston leftwinger Wayne Cashman placed on the second team.

The Stanley Cup champion Flyers, winners of the NHL west division title, had goaltender Bernie Parent selected to the first team and defenseman Barry Ashbee and center Bobby Clarke named to the second.

Goaltender Tony Esposito and defenseman Bill White of the Chicago black Hawks were selected for the second All-Star team along with rightwinger Mickey Redmond of the Detroit Red Wings.

Defenseman Brad Park of the New York Rangers and leftwinger Rick Martin of the Buffalo Sabres completed selections to the first team.

Selections to the two All-Star teams were determined by voting by members of the professional Hockey Writers' Association in the 16 NHL cities. Voting was based on five points for a first place choice, three for second and one for third. Orr was the only player to receive the unanimous 240 point total.

NFL's Meeting Set For Tuesday

Football League Players' Association that it will strike July 1 if a contract agreement is not reached with the owners by that date, both sides return to the bargaining table Tuesday.

The two sides also will meet Wednesday and Thursday in New York, and have scheduled nine more sessions in attempts to thrash out a settlement. Those meetings are set for June 18, 19 and 20 in Washington, June 25, 26 and 27 in New York, and July 1, 2 and 3 in

However, Edward R. Garvey, executive director of the NFLPA, set July 1 as a deadline for a strike, saying the walkout would include rookies, thus forcing cancellation of the College All-Star Game against the NFL champion Miami Dolphins in Chicago July

26. "If nothing is settled by that time, we will declare a strike," emphasized Garvev.

The players and owners last met in Washington May 28-29 under the auspices of the Federal Mediation Service, but only training camp issues were discussed and nothing was settled. William J. Ussery, federal mediator, presided over the meetings and will continue to do so.

Now, both sides are expected to talk about the more substantiative issues, the so-called "freedom demands," such as the abolition of the reserve clause which binds a player to one club. Others include the "Rozelle rule" (a regulation named after NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and requiring compensation for an athlete who plays out his option with one team and is signed by another club), option clauses, the waiver system, fines and impartial arbitration.

Despite Garvey's strike deadline, Chicago Tribune Charities, sponsor of the All-Star Game, said plans for the game would continue. The reporting date for College All-Star rookies has been set

The first NFL team scheduled to open training camp is the San Diego Chargers, on July 4.

Last week, the NFL Management Council released figures claiming that the average profit for each club in 1973 was only-$472,500. But the individual teams—except for the Houston Oilers-refused to release their breakdowns. The Oilers claimed they lost $459,000.

NFL's Meeting Set For Tuesday

Football League Players' Association that it will strike July 1 if a contract agreement is not reached with the owners by that date, both sides return to the bargaining table Tuesday.

The two sides also will meet Wednesday and Thursday in New York, and have scheduled nine more sessions in attempts to thrash out a settlement. Those meetings are set for June 18, 19 and 20 in Washington, June 25, 26 and 27 in New York, and July 1, 2 and 3 in Washington.

However, Edward R. Garvey, executive director of the NFLPA, set July 1 as a deadline for a strike, saying the walkout would include rookies, thus forcing cancellation of the College All-Star Game against the NFL champion Miami Dolphins in Chicago July

"If nothing is settled by that time, we will declare a strike," emphasized Garvey. The players and owners last met in Washington May 28-29 under the auspices of the Federal Mediation Service, but only training camp issues were discussed and nothing was settled. William J. Ussery, federal mediator, presided over the meetings and will con-

Sources Say Gov. Hall Received $25,000 Payment

Che New York Cimes

Oklahoma City - Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma received a $25,000 post-election payment from Loeb Rhoades & Co., the Wall Street brokerage concern that he subsequently recommended as underwriters on $74 million in bonds for a new turnpike, according to wellinformed sources.

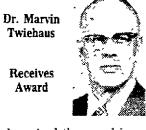

The cash payment from six partners in the stock and commodity brokerage and underwriting concern was made Dec. 30, 1970, although letters Hall wrote acknowledging receipt of the money were backdated to Nov. 2 of that year, which would have been just prior to his election, according to the sources.

The payment through intermediaries is being scrutinized by federal investigators to determine whether the money was paid as a campaign contribution or as an inducement to win the underwriting contract.

Kansas State University's Distinguished Service Award in veterinary medicine was given to Dr. Marvin J. Twiehaus Monday

Dr. Twiehaus is a KSU veterinary graduate and former faculty member of the school and received the award in conjunction with the 36th annual conference for Kansas veterinarians.

Dr. Twiehaus, now chairman of the University, of Nebraska Department of Veterinary Science, was honored "for distinguished service for more than 38 years to his profession, his alma mater, his community, and his country."

A native of Levsay, Mo., Dr. Twiehaus received his doctor of veterinary medicine from KSU in 1936 and also holds an M.S. from KSU in microbiology and

He has been under investigation by the Internal Revenue Service, Federal Bureau of Investigation. federal and state grand juries and the state attorney general in recent months, however.

The focus of most of the investigations has been on allegations of kickbacks on state construction contracts. Seven former aides and associates of the governor have been indicted on charges, ranging from perjury to conspiracy.

Brought Together

The sources say the payment by Loeb Rhoades & Co. was solicited by Hall shortly after his election when he was brought together with representatives of the Wall Street concern by Maurice Sonnenberg, an industrial consultant with offices in Manhattan.

The funds were picked up in New York by Gene R. Redden, administrator of the Oklahoma Ordinance Works Authority, an industrial center near Prvor Creek in northeastern Oklahoma, and delivered to A. -W. Jenkins, a gubernatorial aide.

Hall and two of his appointees then formed a special committee to recommend selection of the concerns to handle the turnpike bond issue.

On that recommendation, in June 1971, the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority selected Loeb attorney's office.

Co. of Chicago, while the two other concerns, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., and Allen & Co., both of New York, were dropped as principal underwriters.

It was later reported that they were not considered because they were too close to the administration of former Gov. Dewey F. Bartlett, the Republican defeated by Hall who subsequently was elected to the U.S. Senate from Oklahoma.

6%-6.25%-Interest

The bonds were sold in November 1971 in packages of $24 million for 20 years and $50 million for 33 years at interest ranging from 6% to 6.25%. The bond underwriters' fees and expenses amounted to $1,961,-000, or 2.65% of the issue.

The turnpike, in north-central Oklahoma, is now nearing completion.

Hall refused to comment on the Loeb Rhoades payment when first asked about it during a news conference, April 24 on the ground that it was a matter under investigation by the IRS. His reference to the investigation, however, was the first public confirmation that the government was scrutinizing that payment.

If the county commissioners approve the budget request the money will be used for two outreach workers and a part time supervisor. Some of the money will also go toward swim tickets for rural children.

LAP has already received three month funding approval from the city council. The three months will be used to explore alternative funding sources crease.

The board Monday night also approved a $225,995 budget for the Lincoln head start programs. The public school head start budget was $173,397 and the Malone head start budget was $52,598.

The Malone head start budget may be amended to give personnel a cost of living salary in-

The informal hearings were set for July 22 in Rushville, Chadron and Harrison and for July 23 in Alliance.

The rules contain 30 regulations pertaining to the operation of jails in Moran's dis-

$4,000 Found In Parking Lot

Two bank bags containing about $4,000 in cash and checks have been returned to Team Electronics after they were found in the store's parking lot by a customer, police said.

Police said they were looking for a man seen leaving the store through a back door. Police theorized the man may have discarded the bags when followed by an employe.

Mechanic Dies Hit By Blast

young mechanic was killed Sunday night in an explosion and fire that caused heavy damage to the Del Goebel Transporting Co. west of Mankato.

John Wessel, 21, of Mankato, died of burns, authorities reported. His body was removed from the ruins about two hours after the explosion.

Officials said Wessel apparently was welding when the blast occurred. They theorized sparks Wessel, a native of Omaha, moved to Mankato about a year ago. He was married and the father of one child.

4 Hearings Set To Get Ideas On Jail Rules

A district judge in western Nebraska has set four hearings to review municipal and county jail rules.

Judge Robert R. Moran initiated the rules Jan. 1, 1971, and the hearings will be held to get ideas toward modifying or improving the rules.

The informal hearings were set for July 22 in Rushville, Chadron and Harrison and for July 23 in Alliance.

The rules contain 30 regulations pertaining to the operation of jails in Moran's dis-

Bellwood Monday filed a suit in U.S. District Court in Lincoln claiming that the nation's two largest grocery chains have conspired to fix the price of meat.

The suit, filed against Safeway Stores and the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., Inc. (or A & P), seeks $507 million.

Under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, those damages would be trebled to $1.521 billion. According to the suit the $507 million is a "tentative" figure.

Plentiful Supply Of Gas May Be Just An Illusion

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The plentiful supply of gasoline may be just a temporary illusion.

James R. Newman, regional director of the Federal Energy Administration, said today rainy spring weather that delayed many farm activities may have lured motorists into a false sense of security.

Newman, whose office directs energy activities in Missouri. Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska, said farmers have not been using as much gasoline as they normally would.

"The agricultural inactivity throughout the region has given Notices Filed

Summer Jobs Funds Received

Gov. J. James Exon's program to employ youths in summer jobs got under way recently as funds were received for a contract between the State Department of Labor and the Game and Parks Commission.

The contract allows for hiring and training 155 enrollees, who will work in various state parks and recreation areas throughout the state. Eligibility for the program requires that participants be between the ages of 14 and 21 and members of an economically disadvantaged family.

Nebraska Firm Levee Bid Wins

Omaha (UPI) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has awarded a $212,926 contract to a Nebraska City firm for work in North Dakota.

The corps said Midwest Construction Co. would provide additional rock riprap to 12,000 feet of the Williston levee on Lake Sakakawea, Williston, N.D.

The corps said Midwest's bid was the lowest of four submitted. The project should take five months to complete.

Board Of Trade Wheat Prices Dip A Little

(c) New York Times Service New York — The continuing slide in live beef-cattle futures and a forecast of five days of good weather over Midwestern growing areas had an impact on wheat prices Monday.

September wheat closed at $3.65¹/₂-$3.66 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade, compared with $3.701/2 Friday.

This weekend rains over the com-growing areas led some traders to believe that farmers might replant some fields with soybeans instead of corn.

A large selloff in beans took September delivery beans down to $5.32 a bushel from $5.371/2.

Weathers A Setback

New York (AP) - The stock market weathered a mild early setback to carry its June rally through a sixth consecutive session Monday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 Industrials, which had backed down about 4 points during the morning, finished with a 5.95 gain at 859.67.

That left the Dow with a gain of more than 65 points over the last eight trading days and at its highest close in a little more than a month

Advances outnumbered declines 834 to 551 among the 1.-770 issues changing hands on the New York Stock Exchange. The Big Board turnover 10 Utils.

throttled down to 13.54 million shares from 19.02 million last Analysts said a round of profit taking and short selling, or the sale of borrowed shares in anticipation of price declines, had been expected. When it proved to be mild and short-lived, some investors were encouraged into some buying later in the session, brokers said "There are a number of small signs that the forward progress of inflation and interest rates has been halted, if not reversed," observed Robert Stovall at

Reynolds Securities. Stovall also noted the continued rise of "the three sisters" - three issues which, because they are among the most closely watched, can contribute substantially to market psychology.

The issues are: —American Telephone & Telegraph, with more shareholders than any other stock, up 2 last week and another ¼ Monday to 48¼.

stock, up 2 last week and another 1/4 Monday to 481/4.

—General Motors, the country's biggest industrial corporation, up 21/6 last week and another 3/4 Monday to 527/8.
—International Business Machines, the stock with the highest total market value and the archetypal glamour growth issue in recent years, up 153/4 last week and another 1 Monday to 230/4.
Latrobe Steel was Monday's best percentage gainer, rising 23/6 to 91/2.
Eastmet Corp. made an offer to obtain controlling interest in the company through a tender offer at $11 a share, and Latrobe challenged the effort in court.
International Paper, which said it was negotiating toward a merger with General Crude Oil, gained 13/4 to 481/4.
Lower quarterly earnings pushed Cousins Mortgage & Realty Investments down 17/6 at 91/2.
Kaufman & Broad slipped 1/2 to 53/6 in trading that included a 122,900-share block at 53/6. The developer said a rebound in the housing industry might not come until 1975.
Semiconductor stocks were active, continuing for the most part their recent Semiconductor stocks were active, continuing for the most part their recent declines. National Semiconductor, the Big Board volume leader, was down 1½ at 14½: Texas Instruments lost 3 to 95%, and Motorola slipped ¾ to 54¾.

Analysts have noted some concern about signs of easing demand for the industry's prospects after a long boom, as well as a Tariff Commission proposal that would apparently have an adverse affect on the status of silicon components brought in by the companies from abroad.

Board Of Trade Wheat Prices Dip A Little

(c) New York Times Service New York — The continuing slide in live beef-cattle futures and a forecast of five days of good weather over Midwestern growing areas had an impact on wheat prices Monday.

September wheat closed at $3.65½-$3.66 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade, compared with $3.701/2 Friday.

This weekend rains over the corn-growing areas led some traders to believe that farmers might replant some fields with soybeans instead of corn.

A large selloff in beans took September delivery beans down to $5.32 a bushel from $5.371/2.

NEW YORK (AP) - Louis Milrod, 80, awarded a master's degree in Jewish history by Yeshiva University, said he plans to go on for a doctorate.

Eyes Doctorate

"Always during my life, the harder I worked, the healthier I became," explained the Brooklyn widower and grandfather of 20. He didn't graduate from high school until he was 75. He could scarcely write his name when he emigrated from Poland in 1925.

He worked in the clothing and toy businesses. Milrod said he plans to continue his studies at New York University.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked

Door Slammed

Holmes slammed his door but then opened it when Car knocked, the policeman said. The officer said Holmes then became "irrational" and and yelled profanities.

Andersen said Holmes came out of the house, knocked Car's flashlight out of his hand, produced a revolver and fired two point-blank shots at the patrolman. The officer suffered powder burns to the eyes.

Car ducked, according to police reports, as Holmes fired a second shot. Car then returned the fire, hitting Holmes, Andersen said.

Others Arrive

Two other officers, Patrolmen Harry Garagiola and K. J. Tworek, arrived during the exchange of gunfire.

Andersen said Holmes had no previous record. He called the Sunday shooting and last week's slaying of Elza Carr Jr. "a very bad series of coincidences.'

Mrs. Holmes Monday said police fired first. She said she was asleep in a downstairs bedroom when she was awakened by squealing tires.

She said she looked out a front window and saw her husband's car and the police car, and heard her husband and policemen

Mrs. Holmes said her husband told the officer: 'Private Property'

"Man, this is private property," and came inside the house. At that point, Mrs. Holmes said, the officer tried to kick the door down and fired through the door at her husband.

The pistol allegedly used by Holmes was found on the dining room table, by Officer Tworek. Police reports show that Sunday Mrs. Homes said she was asleep and knew nothing about the incident until after her husband had been shot.

Officer Car was treated at a local hosptital. He has been placed on "injured on duty" status but has not been suspended, police said.

State Officials To Get

By BOB GUENTHER Star Staff Writer

State officials will receive word in a day or two from Federal Highway Administrator Norbert Tiemann, reportedly indicating Nebraska's highway program will suffer for the state's refusal to remove over 40 tourist information signs along Interstate 80.

Tiemann, a former Nebraska governor, acknowledged in a telephone interview that he has written Gov. J. James Exon and State Engineer Thomas Doyle on the subject.

"I just signed the letter," he said. "However, I can't discuss it until state officials have received Knowledgable sources indicated Monday that Tiemann has decided to punish Nebraska's obstinance.

Tiemann said three options were open to him: to withhold construction funds, to refuse to approve any more Nebraska Interstate and primary highway projects using federal funds or to do nothing. He rejected the state's request for a hearing on the issue, saying it would be "pointless." 'We've listened to them for 11/2 years; we've heard it all before. Nebraska's the only state in this position," he said.

The signs, intended to boost the state's tourism industry. were erected two years ago on an experimental basis with federal approval at a cost of approximately $100,000. Tiemann said the signs need to be further back from the highway to be in accord with the federal Highway Beautification Act.

Doyle said Monday the state is "standing firm" on its refusal to remove the signs until a hearing is held.

Girls State Candidates Comment; Elections Tuesday

The 25 hours between 1 p.m. Monday and 2 p.m. Tuesday are likely to be long and nervewracking for the two candidates for governor of Girls State.

Mary Mahula, 17, Nationalist Party candidate from North Platte, is paired against Lisa Prater, 16, of Humboldt for the governor's post. General elections will be Tuesday morning and returns will be announced Tuesday afternoon.

Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Prater and Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mahula. Vying for the lieutenant governor's position are Heather Lindstrom of Omaha Burke High School and Zoe Cherry of Loup City.

Coincidentally, all four girls are from the same Girls State

This year, as in the past, 380 girls attending the week-long event on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus were divided into eight towns, Girls State officials explained. And of the 47 girls representing the make-believe town of Harding, four are running for the top two Lisa described herself as "pretty opinionated" and "not afraid to let others know how I feel," but also willing to listen to other peoples' views.

As governor, she said she would concentrate on internal security in state government and educational reforms.

Besides changes on issues, Boys State itself took on a new face, moving from its decadeslong home at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education to Abel Hall on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln downtown campus.

Boys State President Robert N. Riddle said that because the Girls State delegates are next door in Sandoz Hall, more common meetings are possible this year; that was impractical when the boys met on east campus. Speeds Up Work

For example, when state officials explain the duties of their offices, they'll need only to make one presentation. The boys and girls, all high school juniors selected for their leadership abilities, are eating together this

"A number of years ago, we couldn't have done this" (coedification of Boys and Girls State), said Secretary Ray Oltman, noting he's found supervision easy - even the combined swimming in Abel-Sandoz pool.

The delegates, who are in the top 10% of their classes scholastically, are sponsored largely by American Legion posts outstate and also by some community service clubs mostly in Lincoln and Omaha.

Oltman said Boys State has become more meaningful, because the delegates are "only a year or two away from voting, instead of five years when the age of majority was 21 in Nebraska.

Economist To Study Transportation Rates

The study, adopted on a 4-0 vote, will examine the feasibility of intermodal rate structures and will be conducted by a fulltime economist, yet to be named. Rasmussen said the study may take more than a year to complete. The state should be a leader and take on such a study, he said, because, "the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) has shown it will not function."

He said the ICC has chosen to develop a percentage approach to requests for rate increases, which will do nothing but encourage a continuous escalation of rates.

Rasmussen said he fears the destruction of the nation's transportation system will resuit.

Commissioner Robert Marland of Lincoln supported the idea of a state-sponsored study, saying, "The state can feel the economic heartbeat of the nation much better than the

First Mid America Suspended By SEC

By H. J. ANDERSON Star Staff Writer

The First Mid America brokerage firm and its former chairman of the board and senior vice president have been temporarily suspended by the Securities and Exchange Commission from most brokerage activity under anti-fraud provisions in national securities and exchange regulations.

The order, handed down Monday, prohibits for 60 days the firm's offering for sale over-thecounter bonds (those not listed in a national stock exchange.)

The firm may still handle stocks and bonds listed on national exchanges, and some miscellaneous items such as municipal bonds and

Underwriting Prohibition

The order also prohibits former FMA board chairman Dale C. Tinstman from underwriting for nine months, and former FMA senior vice president Jerome Druliner from underwriting

Underwriting is the offering of newly issued stocks and bonds for public sale on behalf of the issuing company.

The suspensions are based on violations last summer by FMA in underwriting $10 million of debentures for Lincoln communications com-

Debentures are bonds issued by companies to generate temporary cash. They carry no ownership rights such as voting privileges. Violations 'Consented To'

FMA, Tinstman and Druliner "consented to" the violations, without admitting or denying them, under the terms of the settlement.

SEC staff lawyer Jonathan Pace said the commission's investigation found FMA failed to make proper public disclosures on the N-Triple-C bonds, and bid and purchased the bonds while FMA was still selling them.

Proper public disclosures on the bonds' status are required by law so that prospective buyers may not be misled by brokers, according to Pace. And brokerage firms are not allowed to buy bonds they are also selling because it could favorably affect the bonds' price, Pace said.

Prices are usually driven up when a stock or bond appears to be a popular item, he explained.

Quoting Higher Prices The firm was also found to be quoting higher prices for the bonds than other brokers. Pace said. That, plus the SEC's finding that FMA dominated the bonds' market, means the bonds could possibly be sold for artificially high

Pace said FMA agreed to sell $10 million in debentures for N-Triple-C during the spring of

After nine days, Pace said, FMA announced it had sold all $10 million in bonds and turned the money over to N-Triple-C. In fact, Pace said, FMA had about $1.5 million left to sell. FMA then sold the remaining bonds while entering the market to purchase some itself, Pace said.

Specific Sanctions

The specific sanctions of the SEC suspend the firm from "acting as a managing, comanaging or participating underwriter in any offerings of securities."

Tinstman is suspended from association with any broker or dealer "except after the first six months he may be employed by First Greatwest Corp. (the parent company of FMA) in a limited capacity.

He is also barred from "association with a broker or dealer except as a supervised employe in a nonsupervisory capacity," for at least two years, when he may ask for removal of the restriction.

Druliner may not associate with any broker or dealer for 60 days.

Charles J. Burmeister is the new president of FMA. Tinstman's and Druliner's association with FMA ended Monday.

Market To Seek Arab Agreement

Market foreign ministers agreed on Monday to approach the Arab world in quest of long-term cooperation pacts and to keep the United States and Israel informed of their progress.

The nine Common Market nations will insist that in return, the Arabs lift the oil embargo they imposed on the Netherlands and Denmark during the October Middle East war, informed sources said.

An aide-memoire on the nine's proposals for a dialogue with the 20 Arab nations, oil and nonoil producers alike, will be handed to each Arab capital within the next few days. The nine are suggesting long-term economic, technical and agricultural aid and cooperation.

Sources said they want a meeting soon between one or dialogue risked hampering more Arab leaders representing all 20 Arab nations and the mission

BONN (AP) - Common market's presidency, which rotates among member nations.

The Common Market's idea is that this would be followed by meetings of mixed groups which would work out the precise areas for possible cooperation and later culminate in a conference of foreign ministers.

The Common Market's search for a closer entente with the Arabs was spurred by Arab effectiveness in using the oil weapon and their increased influence in world affairs which resulted. The Market's decision to keep the United States and Israel informed was regarded as an olive branch to Washington.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger complained the nine had not properly consulted their American ally and U.S. officials expressed concern that an independent European-Arab Kissinger's Middle East peace

Candidates Back Political Honesty

By DICK HOLMAN Star Staff Writer

With the muscle of the Watergate scandal continuing to flex and ripple from Washington to Wahoo, gubernatorial candidates at the 1974 Cornhusker Boys State Monday stressed a need for more honesty and integrity in government.

The candidates asked their 400 constituents of Boys State mythical towns to consider changes on issues beyond the scope of their traditional stands. such as on capital punishment or highway conditions.

Paul Post of Bridgeport, unsuccessful Federalist candidate for governor, told a party caucus, "It's really not too late to bring about a change in our type of government" without altering the democratic process or doing simply "what's good for politics.

Opinions Vary

In their introduction to the complexities of state government, the Boys Staters expressed widely varying opinions on abortion, state aid to schools, marijuana, workmen's compensation, state senators' salaries, tourism and land use regulation.

But the importance of revitalizing true representative government held the spotlight, with part of the heat aimed at Washington.

Of U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, Federalist gubernatorial hopeful Jon Wieseler of Hartington said, "I don't think he's doing a thing for the farmer. Wieseler said President Nixon is trying to combat inflation by "putting the load on the farmer, patting him on the back, then not paying him back.'

Excessive Spending A few of the candidates lashed out at what they called excessive government spending. Post acknowledged that distance makes representative government increasingly difficult to function as it was designed. But "honesty and integrity is my platform," he said, submitting "it starts right in the home" with the family. Watergate has affected people's thoughts on the farm, where Post said people have more time to think out issues chief among them the endangerment of the small farm by big business.

The trend toward agricultural mass production and assimilation of the small farm will lead to the destruction of free enterprise, Post said in an interview. Rapid Trials One of the new planks Post presented would bring defendants to trial more rapidly and speed up the appellate process. He urged strengthening the rights of private ownership, including possession of weapons and the paramount sanctity of privacy in the home. Post also favored abortion if it would result in misery for an unwanted child and trauma for the

Besides changes on issues. Boys State itself took on a new face, moving from its decadeslong home at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education to Abel Hall on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln downtown

Boys State President Robert N. Riddle said that because the Girls State delegates are next door in Sandoz Hall, more common meetings are possible this year; that was impractical when the boys met on east campus.

Speeds Up Work For example, when state officials explain the duties of their offices, they'll need only to make one presentation. The boys and girls, all high school juniors selected for their leadership abilities, are eating together this

"A number of years ago, we couldn't have done this" (coedification of Boys and Girls State), said Secretary Ray Oltman, noting he's found supervision easy - even the combined swimming in Abel-Sandoz pool.

The delegates, who are in the top 10% of their classes scholastically, are sponsored largely by American Legion posts outstate and also by some community service clubs mostly in Lincoln and Omaha

Oltman said Boys State has become more meaningful, because the delegates are "only a year or two away from voting,' instead of five years when the age of majority was 21 in Nebraska.

The Boys State Legislature will meet today, Wednesday and Friday. The boys will tour the Statehouse Friday, and the Boys State Band will present a concert in the rotunda from 9:30-10 a.m.

Governors Race Narrows To Two

Cornhusker Boys Staters in the gubernatorial primary election Monday picked the Federal Party's Tim Green of Omaha to face National Party candidate Kevin Stark of Ceresco in the general election race Tuesday.

Green beat 10 other candidates for governor and Stark out-balloted six others. The delegates picked other officials in the general election Monday to serve through Friday. Nationalist Mark Hruska of Ulysses won the lieutenant governor race, outdistancing his Federalist opponent, Mike Rice of Columbus. The results of the Boys State general election Monday follows, with candidates marked (N) for Nationalist Party and (F) for Federal Party:
